PREAMBLE

WE, THE PEOPLE OF FIJI,

DECLARING that we are all Fijians united by common and equal citizenry;

RECOGNISING the Constitution as the supreme law of our country that provides the framework for the conduct of Government and all Fijians;

COMMITTING ourselves to the recognition and protection of human rights, and our respect for human dignity; and

DECLARING our commitment to justice, national sovereignty and security, social and economic wellbeing, and safeguarding our environment;

HEREBY ESTABLISH THIS CONSTITUTION FOR THE REPUBLIC OF FIJI.

CHAPTER 1—THE STATE

The Republic of Fiji

1. The Republic of Fiji is a sovereign democratic State founded on the values of—
- (a) common and equal citizenry and national unity;
  - (b) respect for human rights, freedom and the rule of law;
  - (c) an independent, impartial, competent and accessible system of justice;
  - (d) equality for all and care for the less fortunate based on the values inherent in this section and in the Bill of Rights contained in Chapter 2;
  - (e) human dignity, respect for the individual, personal integrity and responsibility, civic involvement and mutual support;
  - (f) the principles of good governance, including the limitation and separation of powers and other forms of checks and balances;
  - (g) transparency and accountability; and
  - (h) a prudent, efficient and sustainable relationship with nature.

Supremacy of the Constitution

- 2.—(1) This Constitution is the supreme law of the State.
- (2) Any law inconsistent with this Constitution is invalid to the extent of the inconsistency.
- (3) The obligations imposed by this Constitution must be fulfilled, and this Constitution shall be upheld and respected by all Fijians and the State, including all persons holding a public office, and shall be enforced through the courts, to ensure that—
- (a) laws and conduct are consistent with this Constitution;
  - (b) rights and freedoms are protected; and
  - (c) duties under this Constitution are performed.
- (4) Any attempt to establish a Government other than in compliance with this Constitution shall be unlawful, and—
- (a) anything done to further that attempt is invalid and of no force or effect; and
  - (b) no immunities can lawfully be granted under any law to any person in respect of actions taken or omitted in furtherance of such an attempt.

Principles of Constitutional interpretation

- 3.—(1) Any person interpreting or applying this Constitution must promote the spirit, purpose and objects of this Constitution, and the values that underlie a democratic society based on human dignity, equality and freedom.
- (2) If a law appears to be inconsistent with a provision of this Constitution, the court must adopt a reasonable interpretation of that law that is consistent with the provisions of this Constitution over an interpretation that is inconsistent with this Constitution.

(3) This Constitution is to be adopted in the English language but translations in the vernacular are to be made available.

(4) If there is an apparent difference between the meaning of the English version of a provision of this Constitution, and its meaning in the vernacular, the English version prevails.

Secular State

4.—(1) Religious liberty, as recognised in the Bill of Rights, is a founding principle of the State.

(2) Religious belief is personal.

(3) Religion and the State are separate, which means—

- (a) the State and all persons holding a public office must treat all religions equally;
- (b) the State and all persons holding a public office must not dictate any religious belief;
- (c) the State and all persons holding a public office must not prefer or advance, by any means, any particular religion, religious denomination, religious belief, or religious practice over another, or over any non-religious belief; and
- (d) no person shall assert any religious belief as a legal reason to disregard this Constitution or any other law.

Citizenship

5.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this Constitution, all citizens of Fiji have equal status as Fijians, which means that they are equally—

- (a) entitled to all the rights, privileges and benefits of citizenship; and
- (b) subject to the duties and responsibilities of citizenship.

(2) Citizenship of Fiji may be acquired only by birth, registration or naturalisation.

(3) Citizens of Fiji may hold dual or multiple citizenship, which means that—

- (a) upon accepting the citizenship of a foreign country, a person remains a citizen of Fiji unless he or she renounces that status;
- (b) a former citizen of Fiji, who lost that citizenship upon acquiring foreign citizenship, may regain citizenship of Fiji, while retaining that foreign citizenship unless the laws of that foreign country provide otherwise; and
- (c) upon becoming a citizen of Fiji, a foreign person may retain his or her existing citizenship unless the laws of that foreign country provide otherwise.

(4) A written law shall prescribe—

- (a) the conditions upon which citizenship of Fiji may be acquired and the conditions upon which a person may become a citizen of Fiji;
- (b) procedures relating to the making of applications for citizenship by registration or naturalisation;

- (c) conditions relating to the right to enter and reside in Fiji;
- (d) provisions for the prevention of statelessness;
- (e) rules for the calculation of periods of lawful presence in Fiji by a person for the purposes of determining citizenship;
- (f) provisions relating to the renunciation and deprivation of citizenship; and
- (g) such other matters as are necessary to regulate the granting of citizenship.

CHAPTER 2—BILL OF RIGHTS

Application

6.—(1) This Chapter binds Parliament, the judiciary, the executive branch of Government at all levels, and every person performing the functions of any public office.

(2) The State and every person holding a public office must respect, protect, promote and fulfil the rights and freedoms recognised in this Chapter.

(3) A provision of this Chapter binds a natural or legal person, taking into account—

- (a) the nature of the right or freedom recognised in that provision; and
- (b) the nature of any restraint or duty imposed by that provision.

(4) A legal person has the rights and freedoms recognised in this Chapter, to the extent required by the nature of the right or freedom, and the nature of the particular legal person.

(5) To the extent that it is capable of doing so, this Chapter extends to things done or actions taken outside Fiji.

(6) The rights and freedoms set out in this Chapter apply according to their tenor and may be limited by limitations expressly set out or authorised in relation to a particular right or freedom in this Chapter, or as limited by provisions set out elsewhere in this Constitution.

(7) Laws made, and administrative and judicial actions taken, after the commencement of this Constitution, are subject to the provisions of this Chapter.

(8) Subject to the provisions of this Constitution, this Chapter applies to all laws in force at the commencement of this Constitution.

Interpretation of this Chapter

7.—(1) In addition to complying with section 3, when interpreting and applying this Chapter, a court, tribunal or other authority—

- (a) must promote the values that underlie a democratic society based on human dignity, equality and freedom; and
- (b) may, if relevant, consider international and foreign law, applicable to the protection of the rights and freedoms in this Chapter.

(2) This Chapter does not deny, or prevent recognition of, any other right or freedom recognised or conferred by common law or written law, except to the extent that it is inconsistent with this Chapter.

(3) A law that limits a right or freedom set out in this Chapter is not invalid solely because the law exceeds the limits imposed by this Chapter if the law is reasonably capable of a more restricted interpretation that does not exceed those limits, and in that case, the law must be construed in accordance with the more restricted interpretation.

(4) When deciding any matter according to common law, a court must apply and, where necessary, develop common law in a manner that respects the rights recognised in this Chapter.

(5) In considering the application of this Chapter to any particular law, a court must interpret this Chapter contextually, having regard to the content and consequences of the law, including its impact upon individuals or groups of individuals.

Right to life

8.—(1) Every person has the right to life, and a person must not be arbitrarily deprived of life.

(2) Deprivation of life shall not be regarded as inflicted in contravention of this section when it results from the use of force which is no more than absolutely necessary—

- (a) in defence of any person from unlawful violence;
- (b) in order to effect a lawful arrest or to prevent the escape of a person lawfully detained; or
- (c) in action lawfully taken for the purpose of quelling a riot or insurrection.

9.—(1) A person must not be deprived of personal liberty except—

- (a) for the purpose of executing the sentence or order of a court, whether handed down or made in Fiji or elsewhere, in respect of an offence of which the person is convicted;
- (b) for the purpose of executing an order of a court punishing the person for contempt of the court or of another court or tribunal;
- (c) for the purpose of executing an order of a court made to secure the fulfilment of an obligation imposed on the person by law;
- (d) for the purpose of bringing the person before a court in execution of an order of a court;
- (e) if the person is reasonably suspected of having committed an offence;
- (f) with the consent of the person's parent or lawful guardian or upon an order made by a court, for the purpose of the person's education or welfare during any period ending not later than the date of his or her 18th birthday;
- (g) for the purpose of preventing the spread of an infectious or contagious disease;
- (h) for the purpose of the person's care or treatment or for the protection of the community if he or she is, or is reasonably suspected to be, of unsound mind, addicted to drugs or alcohol or a vagrant; or
- (i) for the purpose of preventing the unlawful entry of the person into Fiji or of effecting the expulsion, extradition or other lawful removal of the person from Fiji.

(2) Subsection (1)(c) does not permit a court to make an order depriving a person of personal liberty on the ground of failure to pay maintenance or a debt or tax, unless the court considers that the person has wilfully refused to pay despite having the means to do so.

(3) If a person is detained pursuant to a measure authorised under a state of emergency—

- (a) the person must, as soon as is reasonably practicable and in any event within 7 days after the start of the detention, be given a statement in writing, in a language that the person understands, specifying the grounds of the detention;

- (b) the person must be given the opportunity to communicate with, and to be visited by—
  - (i) his or her spouse, partner or next-of-kin;
  - (ii) a legal practitioner;
  - (iii) a religious counsellor or a social worker; and
  - (iv) a medical practitioner;
- (c) the person must be given reasonable facilities to consult with a legal practitioner of his or her choice;
- (d) the detention must, within one month and thereafter at intervals of not more than 1 month, be reviewed by a court; and
- (e) at any review by a court, the person may appear in person or be represented by a legal practitioner.

(4) At any review of the detention under subsection (3), the court may make such orders as appropriate as to the continued detention of the person.

Freedom from slavery, servitude, forced labour and trafficking

10.—(1) A person must not be held in slavery or servitude, or subjected to forced labour or human trafficking.

(2) In this section, "forced labour" does not include—

- (a) labour required in consequence of a sentence or order of a court;
- (b) labour reasonably required of a person serving a term of imprisonment, whether or not required for the hygiene or maintenance of the prison; or
- (c) labour required of a member of a disciplined force as part of his or her duties.

Freedom from cruel and degrading treatment

11.—(1) Every person has the right to freedom from torture of any kind, whether physical, mental or emotional, and from cruel, inhumane, degrading or disproportionately severe treatment or punishment.

(2) Every person has the right to security of the person, which includes the right to be free from any form of violence from any source, at home, school, work or in any other place.

(3) Every person has the right not to be subjected to any scientific or medical treatment or procedure without an order of the court or without his or her informed consent, or if he or she is incapable of giving informed consent, without the informed consent of a lawful guardian.

Freedom from unreasonable search and seizure

12.—(1) Every person has the right to freedom from unreasonable search of his or her person or property and unreasonable seizure of his or her property.

(2) Search or seizure is not permissible otherwise than under the authority of the law.

Rights of arrested and detained persons

13.—(1) Every person who is arrested or detained has the right—

- (a) to be informed promptly, in a language that the person understands, of—
  - (i) the reason for the arrest or detention;
  - (ii) the right to remain silent; and
  - (iii) the consequences of not remaining silent;
- (b) to remain silent;
- (c) to communicate with a legal practitioner of his or her choice in private in the place where he or she is detained, to be informed of that right promptly and, if he or she does not have sufficient means to engage a legal practitioner and the interests of justice require legal representation to be available, to be given the services of a legal practitioner under a scheme for legal aid;
- (d) not to be compelled to make any confession or admission that could be used in evidence against that person;
- (e) to be held separately from persons who are serving a sentence, and in the case of a child, to be kept apart from adults unless that is not in the best interests of the child;
- (f) to be brought before a court as soon as reasonably practicable, but in any case not later than 48 hours after being arrested, or if that is not reasonably possible, as soon as possible thereafter;
- (g) at the first court appearance, to be charged or informed of the reasons for the detention to continue, or to be released;
- (h) to be released on reasonable terms and conditions, pending a charge or trial, unless the interests of justice otherwise require;
- (i) to challenge the lawfulness of the detention in person before a court and, if the detention is unlawful, to be released;
- (j) to conditions of detention that are consistent with human dignity, including at least the opportunity to exercise regularly and the provision, at State expense, of adequate accommodation, nutrition, and medical treatment; and
- (k) to communicate with, and be visited by,—
  - (i) his or her spouse, partner or next of kin; and
  - (ii) a social worker or a religious counsellor.

(2) Whenever this section requires information to be given to a person, that information must be given simply and clearly in a language that the person understands.

(3) A person who is deprived of liberty by being detained, held in custody or imprisoned under any law retains all the rights and freedoms set out in this Chapter, except to the extent that any particular right or freedom is clearly incompatible with the fact of being so deprived of liberty.

Rights of accused persons

14.—(1) A person may not be tried at all for—

- (a) any act or omission that was not an offence under either domestic or international law at the time it was committed or omitted; or
- (b) an offence in respect of an act or omission for which that person has previously been either acquitted or convicted.

(2) Every person charged with an offence has the right—

- (a) to be presumed innocent until proven guilty according to law;
- (b) to be informed of the charge with sufficient detail to answer it;
- (c) to have adequate time and facilities to prepare a defence, including if he or she requires, a right of access to witness statements;
- (d) to defend himself or herself in person or to choose, and to be represented by, a legal practitioner, and to be informed promptly of this right and, if he or she does not have sufficient means to engage a legal practitioner and the interests of justice require legal representation to be available, to be given the services of a legal practitioner under a scheme for legal aid, and to be informed promptly of this right;
- (e) to be informed in advance of the evidence on which the prosecution intends to rely, and to have reasonable access to that evidence;
- (f) to a public trial before an ordinary court, unless the interests of justice otherwise require;
- (g) to have the trial begin and conclude without unreasonable delay;
- (h) to be present when being tried, unless—
  - (i) the court is satisfied that the person has been served with a summons or similar process requiring attendance at the trial, and has chosen not to attend; or
  - (ii) the conduct of the person makes it impracticable to conduct the trial;
- (i) to be tried in a language that the person understands or, if that is not practicable, to have the proceedings interpreted in such a language without cost to the person;
- (j) to remain silent, not to testify during the proceedings, and not to be compelled to give self-incriminating evidence, and not to have adverse inference drawn from the exercise of any of these rights;
- (k) not to have unlawfully obtained evidence adduced against him or her unless the interest of justice require it to be admitted;
- (l) to call witnesses and present evidence, and to challenge evidence presented against the person;

- (m) to a copy of the record of proceedings within a reasonable period and on payment of a reasonable prescribed fee;
- (n) not to be found guilty in respect of an act or omission unless the act or omission constituted an offence at the time it occurred;
- (o) to the benefit of the least severe of the prescribed punishments if the prescribed punishment for the offence has been changed between the time the offence was committed and the time of sentencing; and
- (p) of appeal to, or review by, a higher court.

(3) Whenever this section requires information to be given to a person, that information must be given as simply and clearly as practicable, in a language that the person understands.

(4) A law is not inconsistent with subsection (1) (b) to the extent that it—

- (a) authorises a court to try a member of a disciplined force for a criminal offence despite his or her trial and conviction or acquittal under a disciplinary law; and
- (b) requires the court, in passing sentence, to take into account any punishment awarded against the member under the disciplinary law.

Access to courts or tribunals

15.—(1) Every person charged with an offence has the right to a fair trial before a court of law.

(2) Every party to a civil dispute has the right to have the matter determined by a court of law or if appropriate, by an independent and impartial tribunal.

(3) Every person charged with an offence and every party to a civil dispute has the right to have the case determined within a reasonable time.

(4) The hearings of courts (other than military courts) and tribunals established by law must be open to the public unless the interests of justice require otherwise.

(5) Subsection (4) does not prevent—

- (a) the making of laws relating to the trials of juveniles, or to the determination of family or domestic disputes, in a closed court; or
- (b) the exclusion by a court or tribunal from particular proceedings (except the announcement of the decision of the court or tribunal) of a person other than parties and their legal representatives if a law empowers it to do so in the interests of justice, public morality, the welfare of persons under the age of 18 years, personal privacy, national security, public safety or public order.

(6) Every person charged with an offence, every party to civil proceedings, and every witness in criminal or civil proceedings has the right to give evidence and to be questioned in a language that he or she understands.

(7) Every person charged with an offence and every party to civil proceedings has the right to follow the proceedings in a language that he or she understands.

(8) To give effect to the rights referred to in subsections (6) and (7), the court or tribunal concerned must, when the interests of justice so require, provide, without cost to the person concerned, the services of an interpreter or of a person competent in sign language.

(9) If a child is called as a witness in criminal proceedings, arrangements for the taking of the child's evidence must have due regard to the child's age.

(10) The State, through law and other measures, must provide for legal aid for those who cannot afford to pursue justice on the strength of their own resources, if injustice would otherwise result.

(11) If any fee is required to access a court or tribunal, it must be reasonable and must not impede access to justice.

(12) In any proceedings, evidence obtained in a manner that infringes any right in this Chapter, or any other law, must be excluded unless the interests of justice require it to be admitted.

Executive and administrative justice

16.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this Constitution and such other limitations as may be prescribed by law—

- (a) every person has the right to executive or administrative action that is lawful, rational, proportionate, procedurally fair, and reasonably prompt;
- (b) every person who has been adversely affected by any executive or administrative action has the right to be given written reasons for the action; and
- (c) any executive or administrative action may be reviewed by a court, or if appropriate, another independent and impartial tribunal, in accordance with law.

(2) This section does not apply to any company registered under a law governing companies.

(3) This section shall not have retrospective effect, and shall only apply to executive and administrative actions taken after the date of the first sitting of the first Parliament elected under this Constitution.

Freedom of expression, publication and media

17.—(1) Every person has the right to freedom of expression and publication, which includes—

- (a) freedom to seek, receive and impart information, knowledge and ideas;
- (b) freedom of the press, including print, electronic and other media;
- (c) freedom of imagination and creativity; and
- (d) academic freedom and freedom of scientific research.

(2) Freedom of expression and publication does not protect—

- (a) propaganda for war;
- (b) incitement to violence or insurrection against this Constitution; or

- (c) advocacy of hatred that—
  - (i) is based on any prohibited ground of discrimination listed or prescribed under section 26; and
  - (ii) constitutes incitement to cause harm.

(3) A law may limit, or may authorise the limitation of, the right to freedom of expression in the interests of—

- (a) national security, public safety, public order, public morality, public health or the orderly conduct of elections;
- (b) the protection or maintenance of the reputation, privacy, dignity, rights or freedoms of other persons, including—
  - (i) the right to be free from hate speech, whether directed against individuals or groups; and
  - (ii) the rights of persons injured by inaccurate or offensive media reports to have a correction published on reasonable conditions established by law;
- (c) preventing the disclosure, as appropriate, of information received in confidence;
- (d) preventing attacks on the dignity of individuals, groups of individuals or respected offices or institutions in a manner likely to promote ill will between ethnic or religious groups or the oppression of, or discrimination against, any person or group of persons;
- (e) maintaining the authority and independence of the courts;
- (f) imposing reasonable restrictions on the holders of public offices in order to secure their impartial and confidential service;
- (g) regulating the technical administration of telecommunications; or
- (h) making provisions for the enforcement of media standards and providing for the regulation, registration and conduct of media organisations.

(4) In this section, "hate speech" means an expression in whatever form that encourages, or has the effect of encouraging discrimination on a ground listed or prescribed under section 26.

Freedom of assembly

18.—(1) Every person has the right, peaceably and unarmed, to assemble, demonstrate, picket and to present petitions.

(2) A law may limit, or may authorise the limitation of, the right mentioned in subsection (1) —

- (a) in the interests of national security, public safety, public order, public morality, public health or the orderly conduct of elections;
- (b) for the purpose of protecting the rights and freedoms of others; or
- (c) for the purpose of imposing reasonable restrictions on the holders of public offices in order to secure their impartial service.

Freedom of association

19.—(1) Every person has the right to freedom of association.

(2) A law may limit, or may authorise the limitation of, the right mentioned in subsection (1) —

- (a) in the interests of national security, public safety, public order, public morality, public health or the orderly conduct of elections;
- (b) for the purpose of protecting the rights and freedoms of others;
- (c) for the purpose of imposing reasonable restrictions on the holders of public offices and members of a disciplined force in order to secure their impartial service;
- (d) for the purposes of regulating the registration of trade unions, or of any federation, congress, council or affiliation of trade unions, or of any federation, congress, council or affiliation of employers;
- (e) for the purposes of regulating collective bargaining processes, providing mechanisms for the resolution of employment disputes and grievances, and regulating strikes and lockouts; or
- (f) for the purposes of regulating essential services and industries, in the overall interests of the Fijian economy and the citizens of Fiji.

Employment relations

20.—(1) Every person has the right to fair employment practices, including humane treatment and proper working conditions.

(2) Every worker has the right to form and join a trade union, and participate in its activities and programmes, and to strike.

(3) Every employer has the right to form and join an employers' organisation, and to participate in its activities and programmes.

(4) Trade unions and employers have the right to bargain collectively.

(5) A law may limit, or may authorise the limitation of, the rights mentioned in this section —

- (a) in the interests of national security, public safety, public order, public morality, public health or the orderly conduct of elections;
- (b) for the purposes of protecting the rights and freedoms of others;
- (c) for the purposes of imposing reasonable restrictions on the holders of public offices and members of a disciplined force in order to secure their impartial service;
- (d) for the purposes of regulating the registration of trade unions, or of any federation, congress, council or affiliation of trade unions, or of any federation, congress, council or affiliation of employers;

- (e) for the purposes of regulating collective bargaining processes, providing mechanisms for the resolution of employment disputes and grievances, and regulating strikes and lockouts; or
- (f) for the purposes of regulating essential services and industries, in the overall interests of the Fijian economy and the citizens of Fiji.

21.—(1) Every person has the right to freedom of movement.

(2) Every citizen has the right to apply for and be issued a passport or similar travel document, in accordance with any condition prescribed by written law.

(3) Every citizen, and every other person lawfully in Fiji, has the right to move freely throughout Fiji and the right to leave Fiji.

(4) Every citizen, and every other person who has a right to reside in Fiji, has the right to reside in any part of Fiji.

(5) Every person who is not a citizen but is lawfully in Fiji has the right not to be expelled from Fiji except pursuant to an order of a court or a decision of the Minister responsible for immigration on a ground prescribed by law.

(6) A law, or anything done under the authority of a law, is not inconsistent with the rights granted by this section to the extent that the law—

- (a) provides for the detention of the person or enables a restraint to be placed on the person's movements, whether—
  - (i) for the purpose of ensuring his or her appearance before a court for trial or other proceedings;
  - (ii) in consequence of his or her conviction for an offence; or
  - (iii) for the purpose of protecting another person from apprehended violence;
- (b) provides for a person who is a non-citizen to be detained or restrained as a consequence of his or her arrival in Fiji without the prescribed entry documentation;
- (c) provides for the extradition, on the order of the High Court, of a person from Fiji;
- (d) provides for the removal from Fiji, on the order of the High Court, of any child who had previously been unlawfully removed from another country, for the purpose of restoring the child to the lawful custody of his or her parent or lawful guardian;
- (e) provides for the removal from Fiji of a person who is not a citizen for the purpose of enabling the person to serve a sentence of imprisonment in the country of the person's citizenship in relation to a criminal offence of which he or she has been convicted in Fiji; or
- (f) regulates, controls or prohibits the entry of persons on to land or property owned or occupied by others.

(7) A law may limit, or may authorise the limitation of, the rights mentioned in this section

- (a) in the interests of national security, public safety, public order, public morality, public health or the orderly conduct of elections;
- (b) for the purpose of protecting the rights and freedoms of others;
- (c) for the purpose of protecting the ecology of any area;
- (d) for the purpose of imposing a restriction on the person that is reasonably required to secure the fulfilment of an obligation imposed on the person by law; or
- (e) for the purpose of imposing reasonable restrictions on the holders of public offices as part of the terms and conditions of their employment.

(8) Subsections (3) and (4) of section 9 apply to a person whose right to freedom of movement is restricted pursuant to a measure authorised under a state of emergency in the same way as they apply to a person detained pursuant to such a measure.

Freedom of religion

22.—(1) Every person has the right to freedom of conscience, religion, belief, thought and opinion.

(2) Every person has the right, either individually or in community with others, in private or in public, to manifest and practise their religion or belief in worship, observance, practice or teaching.

(3) Every person has the right not to be compelled—

- (a) to act in any manner that is contrary to the person's religion or belief; or
- (b) to take an oath, or take an oath in a manner, that—
  - (i) is contrary to the person's religion or belief; or
  - (ii) requires the person to express a belief that the person does not hold.

(4) Every religious community or denomination, and every cultural or social community, has the right to establish, maintain and manage places of education whether or not it receives financial assistance from the State, provided that the educational institution maintains any standards prescribed by law.

(5) In exercising its rights under subsection (4), a religious community or denomination has the right to provide religious instruction as part of any education that it provides, whether or not it receives financial assistance from the State for the provision of that education.

(6) Except with his or her consent or, in the case of a person under the age of 18 years, the consent of a parent or lawful guardian, a person attending a place of education is not required to receive religious instruction or to take part in or attend a religious ceremony or observance if the instruction, ceremony or observance relates to a religion that is not his or her own or if he or she does not hold any religious belief.

(7) The right set out in subsection (2) may be made subject to such limitations prescribed by law as are necessary—

- (a) to protect—
  - (i) the rights and freedoms of other persons; or
  - (ii) public safety, public order, public morality or public health; or
- (b) to prevent public nuisance.

Political rights

23.—(1) Every citizen has the freedom to make political choices, and the right—

- (a) to form or join a political party;
- (b) to participate in the activities of, or recruit members for, a political party; and
- (c) to campaign for a political party, candidate or cause.

(2) Every citizen has the right to free, fair and regular elections for any elective institution or office established under this Constitution.

(3) Every citizen who has reached the age of 18 years has the right—

- (a) to be registered as a voter;
- (b) to vote by secret ballot in any election or referendum under this Constitution;
- (c) to be a candidate for public office, or office within a political party of which the citizen is a member, subject to satisfying any qualifications for such an office; and
- (d) if elected, to hold office.

(4) A law may limit, or may authorise the limitation of, the rights mentioned in this section

- (a) for the purpose of regulating the registration of voters, and prescribing persons who do not have or have ceased to have a right to be registered as a voter;
  - (b) for the purpose of regulating the registration of political parties and prescribing persons who do not have the rights prescribed in subsection (1) and subsection 3(c) and (d);
  - (c) for the purpose of regulating persons who are not eligible to contest for a place in Parliament or in a public office, or an office within a political party; or
  - (d) for the purpose of imposing reasonable restrictions on the holders of public offices (as defined in any such law) from the rights set out in this section.

24.—(1) Every person has the right to privacy, which includes the right—

- (a) to confidentiality of their personal information;
- (b) to confidentiality of their communications; and
- (c) to respect for their private and family life.

(2) A law may limit, or may authorise the limitation of, the rights set out in subsection (1).

Access to information

25.—(1) Every person has the right of access to—

- (a) information held by any public office; and
- (b) information held by another person and required for the exercise or protection of any legal right.

(2) Every person has the right to the correction or deletion of untrue or misleading information that affects that person.

(3) A law may limit, or may authorise the limitation of, the rights set out in subsection (1), and regulate the procedure under which information held by a public office may be made available.

Right to equality and freedom from discrimination

26.—(1) Every person is equal before the law and has the right to equal protection and benefit of the law.

(2) Equality includes the full and equal enjoyment of all rights and freedoms recognised in this Chapter or any other written law.

(3) A person must not be unfairly discriminated against, directly or indirectly on the grounds of his or her—

- (a) actual or supposed personal characteristics or circumstances, including race, culture, ethnic or social origin, colour, place of origin, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity, birth, primary language, economic or social or health status, disability, age, religion, marital status or pregnancy; or
- (b) opinions or beliefs, except to the extent that those opinions or beliefs involve harm to others or the diminution of the rights or freedoms of others, or on any other ground prohibited by this Constitution.

(4) Accordingly, neither a law nor an administrative action taken under a law may directly or indirectly impose a disability or restriction on any person on a prohibited ground.

(5) Every person has the right of access, without discrimination on a prohibited ground, to shops, hotels, lodging-houses, public restaurants, places of public entertainment, public transportation services, taxis and public places.

(6) The proprietor of a place or service referred to in subsection (5) must facilitate reasonable access for disabled persons to the extent prescribed by law.

(7) A person shall not discriminate directly or indirectly against any other person on any of the prohibited grounds.

(8) Treating one person differently from another on any of the grounds prescribed under subsection (3) is discrimination, unless it can be established that the difference in treatment is reasonable in the circumstances.

(9) A law is not inconsistent with the rights mentioned in this section on the ground that it—

- (a) appropriates revenues or other moneys for particular purposes;
- (b) imposes a retirement age on a person;
- (c) imposes restrictions on persons who are not citizens, or confers on them a privilege or advantage, not imposed or conferred on citizens;
- (d) makes provision with respect to adoption, marriage, divorce, burial, devolution of property on death, and pension; or
- (e) excludes persons from holding certain offices.

Freedom from arbitrary expropriation

27.—(1) Every person has the right not to have any interest in any property expropriated other than in accordance with a written law referred to in subsection (2), and no law may permit arbitrary expropriation of any interest in any property.

(2) A written law may authorise compulsory expropriation of property—

- (a) when necessary for a public purpose; and
- (b) on the basis that the owner will be promptly paid agreed compensation for the property, or failing agreement, just and equitable compensation as determined by a court, after considering all relevant factors, including—
  - (i) the public purpose for which the property is being acquired;
  - (ii) the history of its acquisition by the owner;
  - (iii) the market value of the property;
  - (iv) the interests of any person affected by the acquisition; and
  - (v) any hardship to the owner.

(3) Nothing contained in, or done under the authority of, a law is inconsistent with this section to the extent that the law makes provision for the acquisition of property by way of—

- (a) taxation;
- (b) sequestration of bankrupt estates;
- (c) confiscation of the proceeds of crime;
- (d) penalty for breach of the law;
- (e) satisfaction of a mortgage, charge or lien; or
- (f) execution of a judgment of a court.

Right to education

28.—(1) Every person has the right to—

- (a) early childhood education;

- (b) primary and secondary education; and
- (c) further education.

(2) The State must take reasonable measures within its available resources to achieve the progressive realisation of the right—

- (a) to free early childhood, primary, secondary and further education; and
- (b) to education for persons who were unable to complete their primary and secondary education.

(3) The State may direct any educational institution to teach subjects pertaining to health, civic education and issues of national interest, and any educational institution must comply with any such directions made by the State.

(4) In applying any right under this section, if the State claims that it does not have the resources to implement the right, it is the responsibility of the State to show that the resources are not available.

Right to economic participation

29.—(1) Every person has the right to full and free participation in the economic life of the nation, which includes the right to choose their own work, trade, occupation, profession or other means of livelihood.

(2) The State must take reasonable measures within its available resources to achieve the progressive realisation of the rights recognised in subsection (1).

(3) A law may limit, or may authorise the limitation of, the rights set out in subsection (1).

Right to work and a just minimum wage

30.—(1) The State must take reasonable measures within its available resources to achieve the progressive realisation of the right of every person to work and to a just minimum wage.

(2) In applying any right under this section, if the State claims that it does not have the resources to implement the right, it is the responsibility of the State to show that the resources are not available.

Right to reasonable access to transportation

31.—(1) The State must take reasonable measures within its available resources to achieve the progressive realisation of the right of every person to have reasonable access to transportation.

(2) In applying any right under this section, if the State claims that it does not have the resources to implement the right, it is the responsibility of the State to show that the resources are not available.

Right to housing and sanitation

32.—(1) The State must take reasonable measures within its available resources to achieve the progressive realisation of the right of every person to accessible and adequate housing and sanitation.

(2) In applying any right under this section, if the State claims that it does not have the resources to implement the right, it is the responsibility of the State to show that the resources are not available.

Right to adequate food and water

33.—(1) The State must take reasonable measures within its available resources to achieve the progressive realisation of the right of every person to be free from hunger, to have adequate food of acceptable quality and to clean and safe water in adequate quantities.

(2) In applying any right under this section, if the State claims that it does not have the resources to implement the right, it is the responsibility of the State to show that the resources are not available.

Right to social security schemes

34.—(1) The State must take reasonable measures within its available resources to achieve the progressive realisation of the right of every person to social security schemes, whether private or public, for their support in times of need, including the right to such support from public resources if they are unable to support themselves and their dependants.

(2) In applying any right under this section, if the State claims that it does not have the resources to implement the right, it is the responsibility of the State to show that the resources are not available.

Right to health

35.—(1) The State must take reasonable measures within its available resources to achieve the progressive realisation of the right of every person to health, and to the conditions and facilities necessary to good health, and to health care services, including reproductive health care.

(2) A person must not be denied emergency medical treatment.

(3) In applying any right under this section, if the State claims that it does not have the resources to implement the right, it is the responsibility of the State to show that the resources are not available.

Freedom from arbitrary evictions

36.—(1) Every person has the right to freedom from arbitrary evictions from his or her home or to have his or her home demolished, without an order of a court made after considering all the relevant circumstances.

(2) No law may permit arbitrary evictions.

Environmental rights

37.—(1) Every person has the right to a clean and healthy environment, which includes the right to have the natural world protected for the benefit of present and future generations through legislative and other measures.

(2) A law may limit, or may authorise the limitation of, the rights set out in this section.

Rights of children

38.—(1) Every child has the right—

- (a) to be registered at or soon after birth, and to have a name and nationality;
- (b) to basic nutrition, clothing, shelter, sanitation and health care;
- (c) to family care, protection and guidance, which includes the equal responsibility of the child's parents to provide for the child—

- (i) whether or not the parents are, or have ever been, married to each other; and
  - (ii) whether or not the parents are living together, have lived together, or are separated;
- (d) to be protected from abuse, neglect, harmful cultural practices, any form of violence, inhumane treatment and punishment, and hazardous or exploitative labour; and
- (e) not to be detained, except as a measure of last resort, and when detained, to be held—
- (i) only for such period of time as is necessary; and
  - (ii) separate from adults, and in conditions that take account of the child's sex and age.

(2) The best interests of a child are the primary consideration in every matter concerning the child.

Rights of persons with disabilities

39.—(1) A person with any disability has the right—

- (a) to reasonable access to all places, public transport and information;
- (b) to use sign language, Braille or other appropriate means of communication; and
- (c) to reasonable access to necessary materials, substances and devices relating to the person's disability.

(2) A person with any disability has the right to reasonable adaptation of buildings, infrastructure, vehicles, working arrangements, rules, practices or procedures, to enable their full participation in society and the effective realisation of their rights.

Limitation of rights under states of emergency

40.—(1) Any law enacted or promulgated in consequence of a declaration of a state of emergency under this Constitution—

- (a) may limit a right or freedom set out in this Chapter (with the exception of the rights and freedoms set out in sections 8, 10, 11, 13, 14, 15, 16, 22, and 26) only to the extent that—
  - (i) the limitation is strictly required by the emergency; and
  - (ii) the law is consistent with Fiji's obligations under international law applicable to a state of emergency; and
- (b) takes effect only when it has been published.

(2) A person detained under a law contemplated in subsection (1) retains all the rights recognised in this Chapter, subject only to the limitations referred to in subsection (1).

Enforcement

41.—(1) If a person considers that any of the provisions of this Chapter has been or is likely to be contravened in relation to him or her (or, in the case of a person who is detained, if another person considers that there has been, or is likely to be, a contravention in relation to the detained person), then that person (or the other person) may apply to the High Court for redress.

(2) The right to make application to the High Court under subsection (1) is without prejudice to any other action with respect to the matter that the person concerned may have.

(3) The High Court has original jurisdiction—

- (a) to hear and determine applications under subsection (1); and
- (b) to determine questions that are referred to it under subsection (5); and may make such orders and give such directions as it considers appropriate.

(4) The High Court may exercise its discretion not to grant relief in relation to an application or referral made under this section if it considers that an adequate alternative remedy is available to the person concerned.

(5) If in any proceedings in a subordinate court any question arises as to the contravention of any of the provisions of this Chapter, the member presiding in the proceedings may, and must if a party to the proceedings so requests, refer the question to the High Court unless, in the member's opinion (which is final and not subject to appeal), the raising of the question is frivolous or vexatious.

(6) When the High Court gives its decision on a question referred to it under this section, the court in which the question arose must dispose of the case in accordance with—

- (a) the decision; or
- (b) if the decision is the subject of appeal to the Court of Appeal or to the Supreme Court — the decision of the Court of Appeal or the Supreme Court, as the case may be.

(7) The Attorney-General may, on behalf of the State, intervene in proceedings before the High Court that relate to a matter concerning a provision in this Chapter.

(8) If the proceedings before the High Court relate to a matter concerning a provision of this Chapter, the High Court must not proceed to hear and determine the matter until it is satisfied that notice of the matter has been given to the Attorney-General and a reasonable time has elapsed since the giving of the notice for consideration by the Attorney-General of the question of intervention in the proceedings.

(9) A notice under subsection (8) is not required to be given to the Attorney-General if the Attorney-General or the State is a party to the proceedings.

(10) The Chief Justice may make rules for the purposes of this section with respect to the practice and procedure of the High Court (including rules with respect to the time within which applications are to be made to the High Court).

Human Rights and Anti-Discrimination Commission

42.—(1) The Human Rights Commission established under the Human Rights Commission Decree 2009 continues in existence as the Human Rights and Anti-Discrimination Commission.

(2) The Commission is responsible for—

- (a) promoting the protection and observance of, and respect for, human rights in public and private institutions, and to develop a culture of human rights in Fiji;
- (b) education about the rights and freedoms recognised in this Chapter, as well as other internationally recognised rights and freedoms;
- (c) monitoring, investigating and reporting on the observance of human rights in all spheres of life;
- (d) making recommendations to Government concerning the matters affecting the rights and freedoms recognised in this Chapter, including recommendations concerning existing or proposed laws;
- (e) receiving and investigating complaints about alleged abuses of human rights and take steps to secure appropriate redress if human rights have been violated, including making applications to court for redress or for other reliefs or remedies;
- (f) investigating or researching, on its own initiative or on the basis of a complaint, any matter in respect of human rights, and make recommendations to improve the functioning of public or private entities;
- (g) monitoring compliance by the State with obligations under treaties and conventions relating to human rights; and
- (h) performing any other functions or exercising any powers as are conferred on the Commission by a written law.

(3) Any person has the right to complain to the Commission, alleging that a right or freedom in this Chapter has been denied, violated or infringed, or is threatened.

(4) The Commission has such other powers, as set out in the Human Rights Commission Decree 2009 or in any other written law.

CHAPTER 3—PARLIAMENT

Part A—LEGISLATIVE AUTHORITY

Legislative role of Parliament

43.—(1) The authority and power to make laws for the State is vested in Parliament and is exercised through the enactment of Bills passed by Parliament and assented to by the President.

(2) No person or body other than Parliament has authority to make any law in Fiji, except under authority conferred by this Constitution or by a written law.

Exercise of legislative powers

44.—(1) Any member of Parliament may introduce a Bill in Parliament, but only the Minister responsible for finance, or another Minister authorised by Cabinet, may introduce a Money Bill, as described in subsection (4).

(2) Parliament may proceed to consider any Bill in accordance with its standing orders, which must provide—

- (a) a structured process for introduction, deliberation, amendment and enactment of Bills; and
- (b) sufficient time to elapse between the steps in the process for members and committees to give due consideration to each Bill.

(3) A Bill may proceed more quickly than permitted by the standing orders if—

- (a) when the Bill was introduced, the mover requested that Parliament approve consideration of the Bill without delay; and
- (b) a majority of the members of Parliament voted in support of that request.

(4) A Money Bill is any Bill that—

- (a) imposes, increases, alters, remits, grants exemptions from, reduces or abolishes taxes;
- (b) imposes charges on a public fund or varies or repeals any of those charges;
- (c) appropriates public money or otherwise relates to public moneys;
- (d) raises or guarantees any loan, or its repayment;
- (e) deals with the receipt, custody, investment, issue or audit of money; or
- (f) deals with anything incidental to those matters.

Presidential assent

45.—(1) When a Bill has been passed by Parliament, the Speaker must send it to the President for assent.

(2) Within 7 days after receipt of a Bill, the President must provide his assent.

(3) If the President does not assent to a Bill within the period set out in subsection (2), the Bill will be taken to have been assented to on the expiry of that period.

Coming in force of laws

46.—(1) Within 7 days after a Bill has been assented to, the Attorney-General must publish the Bill in the Gazette as an Act of Parliament.

(2) An Act of Parliament comes into force—

- (a) on a date determined by or in accordance with the Act; or
- (b) on the 7th day after its publication in the Gazette, if the Act does not determine a date or provide for a date to be determined.

Regulations and similar laws

47.—(1) No person may make any regulation, or issue any other instrument having the force of law, except as expressly authorised by this Constitution or a written law.

(2) A person making any regulations or issuing any instrument having the force of law must, so far as practicable, provide reasonable opportunity for public participation in the development and review of the law before it is made.

Parliamentary authority over international agreements

48.—(1) An international agreement binds the State only after it has been approved by Parliament, unless it is an agreement referred to in subsection (2).

(2) An international agreement of a technical and administrative nature, entered into by Cabinet, may bind the State without approval by Parliament, but must be tabled in Parliament.

Part B—COMPOSITIONMembers of Parliament*

49. The members of Parliament shall be chosen by secret ballot in free and fair elections administered by the Electoral Commission, in accordance with this Constitution and any written law governing elections.

Proportional representation system

50.—(1) The election of members of Parliament is by a multi-member open list system of proportional representation, under which each voter has one vote, with each vote being of equal value.

(2) A written law shall make provisions relating to election of members of Parliament.

Composition of Parliament

51.—(1) For the first election of members of Parliament held under this Constitution, Parliament shall consist of 45 members, elected in accordance with this Constitution.

(2) For each election of members of Parliament after the first election held under this Constitution, the Electoral Commission shall, at least 1 year before any such election, review the composition of Parliament and may, if necessary, increase or decrease the total number of members in Parliament to ensure that, as far as practicable, at the date of any such review, the ratio of the number of members in Parliament to the population of Fiji is the same as the ratio of the number of members in Parliament to the population of Fiji at the date of the first election held under this Constitution.

(3) In conducting a review under subsection (2), the Electoral Commission shall have regard to the population of Fiji as ascertained from the most recent census, the National Register of Voters or any other official information available.

(4) If the Electoral Commission makes a determination to alter the composition of Parliament in exercise of its powers under subsection (2), then the composition of Parliament shall, for the purpose of the election of members of Parliament to be held after the date of the determination, be deemed to be amended to such number of members as determined by the Electoral Commission.

(5) A written law may make further provisions to give effect to the review under subsection (2).

52.—(1) The total number of members in Parliament shall be divided into 4 electoral divisions, the boundaries of which are contained in Schedule 2.

(2) For the first election of members of Parliament held under this Constitution, the total number of members in Parliament are allocated to the 4 electoral divisions as follows:

- (a) Central Division — 18 members;
- (b) Western Division — 16 members;
- (c) Northern Division — 7 members; and
- (d) Eastern Division — 4 members.

(3) For each election of members of Parliament after the first election held under this Constitution, the Electoral Commission shall at least 9 months before any such election, review the allocation of the total number of members in Parliament to each electoral division and, if necessary, re-allocate the total number of members in Parliament among the 4 electoral divisions to ensure that, as far as practicable, the total number of members in Parliament are distributed among the 4 electoral divisions in proportion to the population of each division.

(4) In conducting a review under subsection (3), the Electoral Commission shall have regard to the population of Fiji in each electoral division, as ascertained from the most recent census, the National Register of Voters or any other official information available.

(5) If the Electoral Commission makes a determination to reallocate the total number of members in Parliament among the 4 electoral divisions in exercise of its powers under subsection (3), then the number of members in parliament allocated to each electoral divisions shall, for the purpose of the election of members of Parliament to be held after the date of the determination, be deemed to be amended to such number as determined by the Electoral Commission.

(6) A written law may make further provisions to give effect to the review under subsection (3).

Voter qualification and registration

53.—(1) Every citizen of Fiji over the age of 18 years has a right to be registered as a voter, in the manner and form prescribed by a written law governing elections or registration of voters.

(2) A person who—

- (a) is serving a sentence of imprisonment of 12 months or longer imposed by a court in Fiji or by a court of another country;
- (b) is under a law in force in Fiji, adjudged or declared to be of unsound mind or to have a mental disorder; or

- (c) is serving a period of disqualification from registration as a voter under a law relating to electoral offences, does not have a right to be registered as a voter.

(3) A person who is registered as a voter and who, after his or her registration as a voter,

- (a) is serving a sentence of imprisonment of 12 months or longer imposed by a court in Fiji or by a court of another country;
- (b) is under a law in force in Fiji, adjudged or declared to be of unsound mind or to have a mental disorder; or
- (c) is serving a period of disqualification from registration as a voter under a law relating to electoral offences, ceases to be a registered voter.

(4) Every person who is registered as a voter has a right to vote in one of the electoral divisions referred to in section 52.

(5) The Electoral Commission must maintain a single, national common register of voters, divided by electoral divisions.

(6) Every citizen who is registered as a voter and who is—

- (a) resident in Fiji on elections day is entitled to vote in that elections; or
- (b) not resident in Fiji on elections day is entitled to vote to the extent provided in any written law governing elections.

Candidates for election to Parliament

54.—(1) In each electoral division, a candidate for election to Parliament must be either nominated by a registered political party or nominated as an independent candidate in accordance with the laws governing elections.

(2) A person may be a candidate for election to Parliament only if the person—

- (a) is a citizen of Fiji only, and does not hold citizenship of any other country;
- (b) is registered on the Register of Voters;
- (c) is ordinarily resident in Fiji for at least 2 years prior to being nominated;
- (d) is not an undischarged bankrupt;
- (e) is not a member of the Electoral Commission, and has not been a member of that Commission at any time during the 4 years immediately before being nominated;
- (f) is not subject to a sentence of imprisonment of at least 12 months when nominated;
- (g) has not been subject to a sentence of imprisonment for an offence involving dishonesty, abuse of office, corruption, or sexual offences at any time during the 5 years immediately before being nominated; or

- (h) has not been found guilty of any offence under a law relating to elections, registration of political parties or registration of voters.

(3) A written law may make provision relating to the nomination of candidates for election to Parliament.

Candidates who are public officers

55.—(1) A person who holds a public office is deemed to have vacated that office immediately before the time at which his or her signed nomination as a candidate for election to Parliament is delivered to the relevant returning officer or to the person who under the laws governing elections is authorised to receive nominations of candidates.

(2) A person who has held office as a member of the Electoral Commission or the Supervisor of Elections is ineligible to be nominated as a candidate for election to Parliament for 4 years after ceasing to hold that office.

(3) For the purposes of this section, "public office" means—

- (a) any office in, or as a member of, a statutory authority, a commission, or a board established by or continued in existence by this Constitution or any written law;
- (b) an office in respect of which this Constitution makes provision;
- (c) an office established by written law;
- (d) an office of a judicial officer or an office of any court or tribunal established by this Constitution or any written law;
- (e) any office in a state service, including public service, the Fiji Police Force, Fiji Corrections Service or the Republic of Fiji Military Forces; or
- (f) any office in a trade union registered under the Employment Relations Promulgation 2007 (whether elected or appointed to that office, and including any position or arrangement under which a person receives remuneration, salary, allowances or fees from a trade union);
- (g) any office in any federation, congress, council or affiliation of trade unions (whether elected or appointed to that office, and including any position or arrangement under which a person receives remuneration, salary, allowances or fees from any federation, congress, council or affiliation of trade unions); or
- (h) any office in any federation, congress, council or affiliation of employers (whether elected or appointed to that office, and including any position or arrangement under which a person receives remuneration, salary, allowances or fees from any federation, congress, council or affiliation of employers).

(4) Notwithstanding anything contained in subsection (3), for the purposes of this section, "public office" does not include the office of the Prime Minister, the office of a Minister, the office of the Leader of the Opposition or an office held by a Minister by virtue of his or her appointment as a Minister.

(5) A written law may make provision relating to the nomination of candidates for election to Parliament.

(6) Every candidate, and every political party nominating a candidate, must comply with any written law governing elections.

Term of Parliament

56.—(1) Subject to this section, Parliament, unless sooner dissolved in accordance with this Constitution, continues for 4 years from the date of its first meeting after an election of the members of Parliament.

(2) The President, acting on the advice of the Prime Minister may from time to time in the like manner prorogue Parliament.

(3) The President may, acting on the advice of the Prime Minister, dissolve Parliament, but only after a lapse of 3 years and 6 months from the date of its first meeting after an election of members of Parliament.

Writs for election

57.—(1) Writs for the election of members of Parliament are issued by the President on the advice of the Prime Minister.

(2) The writs for an election must be issued within 7 days from the expiry of Parliament or from its dissolution.

Date of nomination

58. The last day for the receipt of a nomination of a candidate for election to Parliament is 14 days after the date of the writs.

Date of polling

59. Polling commences no later than 30 days after the last day for the receipt of nominations.

Early dissolution of Parliament

60.—(1) The President must declare Parliament dissolved early if Parliament has adopted a resolution to dissolve early, supported by at least two-thirds of the members of Parliament.

(2) A resolution for early dissolution of Parliament may be moved—

- (a) only on the grounds that the Government lacks the confidence of Parliament;
- (b) only by the Leader of the Opposition; and
- (c) only if Parliament has first rejected a motion of no confidence in the Prime Minister under section 93.

(3) No motion for early dissolution may be made within—

- (a) 18 months immediately after the beginning of Parliament's term; or
- (b) 6 months immediately before the end of Parliament's ordinary 4 year term.

Vacation of place of member of Parliament

61.—(1) The place of a member of Parliament becomes vacant if the member—

- (a) dies, or resigns by giving to the Speaker a signed resignation;

- (b) with the member's consent, becomes the holder of a public office (as defined in section 55);
- (c) ceases to have a right to be a registered voter in an election to Parliament;
- (d) ceases to have a right to be nominated as a candidate for election to Parliament under section 54;
- (e) is an undischarged bankrupt; or
- (f) is absent from 2 consecutive sittings of Parliament without having obtained the permission of the Speaker;

(2) A person who was elected to Parliament as a member of a particular political party, or who was elected as an independent candidate but has subsequently joined a political party in Parliament, must notify the Speaker within 7 days upon—

- (a) resigning from the political party; or
- (b) being expelled from the political party in accordance with the rules of the party relating to party discipline.

Next candidate to fill vacancy

62. If the place held by a member of Parliament becomes vacant, then the Electoral Commission must award that place to the candidate in the member's electoral division who, in the most recent elections, received the most votes out of those candidates who did not get elected to Parliament, and who is still available to serve at the time of the vacancy; provided however that if the vacancy occurs more than 3 years and 6 months after the first meeting of Parliament following the last elections, then the place so vacated shall remain vacant.

Vacancies in membership

63. Parliament may act despite a vacancy in its membership, and the presence at, or the participation in, its proceedings of a person not entitled to be a member does not invalidate the proceedings.

Court of Disputed Returns

64.—(1) The High Court is the Court of Disputed Returns and has original jurisdiction to hear and determine—

- (a) by way of a petition, a question whether a person has been validly elected as a member of Parliament; and
- (b) by way of a proceeding, an application for a declaration on whether the place of a member of Parliament has become vacant.

(2) The validity of an election of a person as a member of Parliament may be disputed by petition addressed to the Court of Disputed Returns and not otherwise.

(3) The petition under subsection (1)(a)—

- (a) may only be brought by—
  - (i) a person who had a right to vote in the election concerned;
  - (ii) a person who was a candidate in the election concerned; or

(iii) the Attorney-General; and

(b) except if corrupt practice is alleged, must be brought within 4 weeks of the declarations of the poll.

(4) If the petitioner in a petition under subsection (1)(a) is not the Attorney-General, the Attorney-General may intervene in the proceedings.

(5) Proceedings pursuant to subsection (1)(b) may only be brought by—

(a) a member of Parliament;

(b) a registered voter; or

(c) the Attorney-General.

(6) If the proceedings under subsection (1)(b) are not brought by the Attorney-General, the Attorney-General may intervene in them.

(7) A determination by the High Court under this section is final and not subject to any appeal.

First sitting of Parliament after an election

65.—(1) Parliament must meet in its first sitting no later than 14 days after the announcement of the results of the elections in all the electoral divisions.

(2) At the first sitting, the agenda of business is—

(a) swearing in of members, presided over by the Chief Justice;

(b) the election of the Speaker in accordance with section 76, presided over by the Secretary-General of Parliament;

(c) swearing in of the Speaker, presided over by the Chief Justice;

(d) the election and swearing in of the Deputy Speaker, presided over by the Speaker;

(e) in the event that the Prime Minister has not assumed office under section 92(2), the appointment of the Prime Minister in accordance with section 92(3) and the swearing in of the Prime Minister, presided over by the President; and

(f) the election of the Leader of the Opposition, presided over by the Speaker, and conducted in accordance with section 77.

Other sittings of Parliament

66. The Speaker must call a sitting of Parliament if requested to do so by—

(a) the Prime Minister; or

(b) at least one-third of the members of Parliament.

Quorum

67.—(1) A sitting of Parliament may not begin, or continue, unless at least one-third of the members of Parliament are present.

(2) A vote on a Bill may not be held in Parliament unless a majority of the members of Parliament are present.

(3) The Speaker must adjourn a sitting if a quorum is not present.

Voting

68.—(1) Except as otherwise provided in this Constitution, any question proposed for decision in Parliament must be determined by a majority of the members present.

(2) On a question proposed for decision in Parliament—

(a) the person presiding has no vote; and

(b) in the case of a tie, the question is lost.

(3) The person presiding must not be counted when reckoning the number of members for the purpose of voting, or determining if a quorum is present.

Committees

69. Parliament may establish such committees as Parliament deems fit.

Standing orders

70.—(1) Parliament may make standing orders and rules for the order and conduct of business and proceedings in Parliament and its committees and for the way in which its powers, privileges and immunities may be exercised and upheld.

(2) Before the first sitting of the first Parliament elected under this Constitution, the Prime Minister shall, in consultation with the Attorney-General, prepare, and publish in the Gazette, the standing orders of Parliament, for use by Parliament and its committees.

Petitions, public access and participation

71.—(1) Parliament must—

(a) conduct its business in an open manner, and hold its sittings and those of its committees, in public; and

(b) facilitate public participation in the legislative and other processes of Parliament and its committees.

(2) Parliament and its committees may not exclude the public, including any media, from any sitting unless, in exceptional circumstances, the Speaker has ordered the exclusion of the public on grounds that are reasonable and justifiable.

Powers, privileges, immunities and discipline

72. Every member of Parliament, and anyone else speaking in Parliament, has—

(a) freedom of speech and debate in Parliament or its committees, subject to the standing orders; and

(b) parliamentary privilege in respect of anything said in Parliament or its committees.

Power to call for evidence

73.—(1) Parliament, and each of its committees, has the power to summon any person to appear before it for the purpose of giving evidence or providing information.

(2) For the purposes of subsection (1), Parliament and each of its committees has the same powers as the High Court to—

- (a) enforce the attendance of witnesses and examine them on oath, affirmation or otherwise; and
- (b) compel the production of documents.

Part C—INSTITUTIONS AND OFFICES

Electoral Commission

74.—(1) The Electoral Commission established under the State Services Decree 2009 continues in existence.

(2) The Electoral Commission has the responsibility for the registration of voters and the conduct of free and fair elections in accordance with the written law governing elections and any other relevant law, and in particular for—

- (a) the registration of citizens as voters, and the regular revision of the voters register;
- (b) voter education;
- (c) the registration of candidates for election;
- (d) the settlement of electoral disputes, including disputes relating to or arising from nominations, but excluding election petitions and disputes subsequent to the declaration of election results; and
- (e) monitoring and enforcing compliance with any written law governing elections and political parties.

(3) The Electoral Commission has such other functions as are conferred on it by this Constitution or a written law.

(4) The Electoral Commission must make an annual report to the President concerning the operations of the Commission and must submit a copy of its annual report to Parliament.

(5) The Electoral Commission may at other times make such reports to the President and Parliament as it thinks fit.

(6) The Electoral Commission consists of a chairperson who is or is qualified to be a Judge, and 4 other members.

(7) The Chairperson is appointed by the President, on the advice of the Prime Minister.

(8) The other members are appointed in the following manner—

- (a) 3 members shall be appointed by the President on the advice of the Prime Minister; and
- (b) 1 member shall be appointed by the President on the advice of the Leader of the Opposition.

(9) A person is not qualified for appointment as a member if he or she is —

- (a) a member of Parliament;

- (b) the holder of a public office (other than an office of Judge);
- (c) a member of a local authority;
- (d) a local Government officer; or
- (e) a candidate for election to Parliament.

Supervisor of Elections

75.—(1) The office of Supervisor of Elections established under the State Services Decree 2009 continues in existence.

(2) The Supervisor of Elections, acting under the direction of the Electoral Commission,—

- (a) administers the registration of voters for elections of members to Parliament;
- (b) conducts —
  - (i) elections of members of Parliament; and
  - (ii) such other elections as Parliament prescribes; and
- (c) may perform such other functions as are conferred by written law.

(3) The Supervisor of Elections must comply with any directions that the Commission gives him or her concerning the performance of his or her functions.

(4) The Supervisor of Elections is appointed by the President on the advice of the Prime Minister following consultation by the Prime Minister with the Electoral Commission.

Speaker and Deputy Speaker of Parliament

76.—(1) At its first sitting after an election, and whenever required to fill a vacancy, Parliament must elect, by simple majority vote—

- (a) a Speaker from among persons who are qualified to be elected as members of Parliament, but are not members; and
- (b) a Deputy Speaker from among the members of Parliament (excluding Ministers).

(2) The Speaker assumes office by taking the oath or affirmation set out in the Schedule 1, as administered by the Chief Justice, and the Deputy Speaker assumes office by taking the oath or affirmation of office, as administered by the Speaker.

(3) The Speaker shall preside over every sitting of Parliament.

(4) The Deputy Speaker must perform the duties of Speaker if the Speaker is absent from duty or from Fiji or is, for any other reason, unable to perform those duties.

(5) If neither the Speaker nor the Deputy Speaker is able to perform the duties of Speaker, the members of Parliament must elect one of their members to preside at meetings of Parliament.

(6) The Speaker, Deputy Speaker, or any other person presiding at any time, in the performance of the functions of Speaker—

- (a) is independent and subject only to this Constitution and the law;

- (b) serves to secure the honour and dignity of Parliament;
- (c) is responsible for ensuring—
  - (i) the rights and privileges of all members; and
  - (ii) public access to the proceedings of Parliament and its committees;
- (d) has authority to maintain order and decorum in Parliament, in accordance with its standing orders and parliamentary tradition; and
- (e) must act impartially, and without fear, favour or prejudice.

(7) The office of Speaker becomes vacant—

- (a) on the day immediately before the first meeting of Parliament after elections; or
- (b) if, before that day, the Speaker —
  - (i) resigns by giving to the President a signed letter of resignation;
  - (ii) becomes the holder of another public office;
  - (iii) ceases to have a right to be registered as a voter in an election to Parliament;
  - (iv) is absent from 2 consecutive meetings of Parliament; or
  - (v) is removed from office by a resolution supported by not less than two-thirds of the members of Parliament.

(8) The office of Deputy Speaker becomes vacant if the Deputy Speaker—

- (a) resigns by giving to the Speaker a signed letter of resignation;
- (b) vacates his or her place as a member of Parliament;
- (c) is appointed as a Minister; or
- (d) is removed from office by a resolution supported by not less than two-thirds of the members of Parliament.

Leader of the Opposition

77.—(1) The members of Parliament who —

- (a) do not belong to the Prime Minister's political party;
- (b) do not belong to any party in coalition with the Prime Minister's political party; or
- (c) are independent candidates who do not support the Prime Minister;

must elect a person from among themselves to be the Leader of the Opposition, in accordance with this section.

(2) At the first sitting of Parliament after the elections, the Speaker must call for nominations from those members of Parliament mentioned in subsection (1), and, if only one person is nominated and seconded, the Speaker shall declare that person elected as the Leader of the Opposition; but if more than one person is nominated and seconded, the Speaker must conduct a vote, as follows—

- (a) if after the first vote, any nominee has the support of the majority of the members of Parliament mentioned in subsection (1), the Speaker shall declare that person elected as the Leader of the Opposition; and
- (b) if no nominee in the first vote receives the support of the majority of the members of Parliament mentioned in subsection (1), a second vote must be held within 24 hours of the first vote and the nominee who has the support of the majority of the members of Parliament mentioned in subsection (1) in the second vote shall be declared by the Speaker as being elected as the Leader of the Opposition.

(3) If after the second vote held under subsection (2), no person receives the support of the majority of the members of Parliament mentioned in subsection (1), the position of the Leader of the Opposition shall remain vacant until such time when the majority of the members of Parliament mentioned in subsection (1) write to the Speaker requesting him or her to call for fresh nominations for the election of the Leader of the Opposition in accordance with the procedure set out in subsection (2).

(4) If a majority of the members mentioned in subsection (1) consider that the person who is the Leader of the Opposition should no longer hold the position of the Leader of the Opposition, then they shall inform the Speaker of their decision and they may elect another member of Parliament mentioned in subsection (1), in accordance with the procedure set out in subsection (2).

Secretary General to Parliament

78.—(1) This section establishes the office of Secretary-General to Parliament.

(2) The Secretary-General to Parliament shall be appointed by the President on the advice of the Prime Minister.

Remunerations

79. The remuneration, including salaries and allowances and benefits, payable to, the President, the Prime Minister, other Ministers, the Leader of the Opposition, the Speaker and Deputy Speaker of Parliament and a member of Parliament shall be prescribed by a written law.

CHAPTER 4—THE EXECUTIVE

Part A—THE PRESIDENT

The President of Fiji

80.—(1) This section establishes the office of the President.

(2) The President is the Head of State, and the executive authority of the State is vested in the President.

President acts on advice

81. In the exercise of his or her powers and executive authority, the President acts only on the advice of Cabinet or a Minister or of some other body or authority prescribed by this Constitution for a particular purpose as the body or authority on whose advice the President acts in that case.

Qualification for appointment

82.—(1) Candidates for the office of the President must—

- (a) be persons who have had a distinguished career in any aspect of national or international life, whether in the public or private sector;
- (b) hold only a Fijian citizenship;
- (c) not be a member of, or hold any office in, any political party;
- (d) not hold any other public office;
- (e) not be a candidate for election to any other office in the State; and
- (f) not have been subject to a sentence of imprisonment for an offence at any time during the 5 years immediately before being nominated.

(2) A person holding a public office is not required to resign from that office before accepting nomination for President, but the appointment of the person as President has the effect of terminating his or her service in that office.

(3) Nothing in this section prevents the President from holding a public office, by virtue of his or her appointment as President, under any written law.

Appointment of President

83.—(1) The President shall be appointed by Parliament.

(2) Whenever a vacancy arises in the office of the President, the Prime Minister and the Leader of the Opposition shall nominate one name each to the Speaker who shall put both the names to the floor of Parliament for voting by the members of Parliament.

(3) The person who receives the support of the majority of the members of Parliament present shall be appointed as President, and the Speaker shall publicly announce the name of the President.

(4) In the event that both persons nominated receive the same number of votes, the Speaker shall conduct the voting again after 24 hours, and voting shall continue until such time a person nominated as President receives the support of the majority of the members of Parliament; provided however that if after three rounds of voting, no person receives the support of the majority of the members of Parliament, then the person nominated by the Prime Minister shall be announced by the Speaker as being appointed as President by Parliament.

(5) If the Prime Minister and the Leader of the Opposition nominate the same person, then no voting shall take place and the Speaker shall publicly announce that person as being appointed as President by Parliament.

Term of office and remuneration

84.—(1) The President holds office for 3 years, and is eligible for re-appointment for one further term of 3 years, but is not eligible for re-appointment after that.

(2) For the purposes of subsection (1), in determining whether a person is eligible for appointment or re-appointment, any period served before the commencement of this Constitution shall be taken into account.

(3) The President shall receive such remuneration, allowances and other benefits, as prescribed by a written law made under section 79.

Oath of office

85. Before taking office, the President must take before the Chief Justice the oath or affirmation of office as set out in Schedule 1 in a public ceremony.

Resignation

86. The President may resign from office by delivering a written statement of resignation to the Prime Minister.

Chief Justice to perform functions in absence of President

87. If the President is absent from duty or from Fiji or is, for any other reason, unable to perform the functions of the President or if the office of the President becomes vacant for any reason, then the functions of the office of the President shall be performed by the Chief Justice or, in the absence of the Chief Justice, the next senior most substantive Judge, determined by having regard to the date of appointment and the nature of the judicial office held.

Removal from office

88.—(1) The President may be removed from office for inability to perform the functions of office (whether arising from infirmity of body or mind or any other cause) or for misbehaviour, and may not otherwise be removed.

(2) Removal of the President from office must only be done pursuant to this section.

(3) If the Prime Minister considers that the question of removing the President from office ought to be investigated, then—

(a) the Prime Minister shall request the Chief Justice to establish—

(i) in the case of alleged misbehaviour — a tribunal, consisting of a chairperson and 2 other members each of whom is, or is eligible to be, a Judge; or

(ii) in the case of alleged inability to perform the functions of office — a medical board, consisting of a chairperson and 2 other members, each of whom is a qualified medical practitioner,

and the Prime Minister shall notify the President of the request;

- (b) the Chief Justice, who must act on the request, shall establish the tribunal or medical board, as the case may be; and
- (c) the tribunal or medical board shall enquire into the matter and furnish a written report, including its advice on whether the President should be removed from office, to the Chief Justice, who shall refer the report to the Prime Minister.

(4) In deciding whether to remove the President from office, the Prime Minister must act in accordance with the advice given by the tribunal or the medical board, as the case may be.

(5) The President is taken to be unable to perform the functions of his or her office during the period starting on the day on which the President receives notification under subsection (3)(a) and ending on the day a decision is made under subsection (4).

(6) The Prime Minister must table the report of the tribunal or the medical board, as the case may be, in Parliament.

Part B – CABINET

Responsible Government

89. Government must have the confidence of Parliament.

Cabinet

90.—(1) Cabinet consists of the Prime Minister as chair, and such other Ministers as determined by the Prime Minister.

(2) Cabinet members are accountable individually and collectively to Parliament, for the exercise of their powers and the performance of their functions.

(3) A Minister must appear before Parliament, or a committee of Parliament, when required, and answer any question concerning a matter for which the Minister is responsible.

(4) Cabinet members must provide Parliament with full and regular reports concerning matters for which they are responsible.

(5) Cabinet may seek an opinion from the Supreme Court on any matter concerning the interpretation or application of this Constitution.

Office of Prime Minister

91.—(1) The Prime Minister is the head of the Government.

(2) The Prime Minister is the Commander-in-Chief of the Republic of Fiji Military Forces.

(3) Once each year, the Prime Minister must present to Parliament a speech outlining the policies and programmes of the Government for the following year.

(4) The Prime Minister shall keep the President generally informed about the issues relating to the governance of Fiji.

(5) The Prime Minister—

- (a) appoints Ministers with such titles, portfolios and responsibilities as the Prime Minister determines from time to time;
- (b) dismisses Ministers; and

- (c) by notice published in the Gazette, assigns to any Minister or to himself or herself responsibility for the conduct of a specified part of the business of the Government, including responsibility for the general direction and control over a branch or branches of the public service or over a disciplined force and responsibility for the implementation and administration of each Act; provided however that the responsibility for any part of the business of Government that is not specifically assigned shall remain with the Prime Minister.

(6) The Prime Minister shall appoint a Minister to act in the office of Prime Minister during any period, or during all periods, when the Prime Minister is absent from duty or from Fiji or is, for any other reason, unable to perform the functions of office, and a notification of the appointment of the Acting Prime Minister must be published in the Gazette.

Appointment of Prime Minister

92.—(1) The Prime Minister must be a member of Parliament.

(2) After the elections, the person who is elected to Parliament and who is the leader of a political party which has won more than 50% of the total number of members in Parliament assumes office as the Prime Minister by taking before the President the oath or affirmation of office set out in Schedule 1.

(3) After the elections, if no one political party has won more than 50% of the total number of members in Parliament, then, at the first sitting of Parliament, the Speaker must call for nominations from members of Parliament and, if only one person is nominated and seconded, then that person assumes office as the Prime Minister by taking before the President the oath or affirmation of office set out in Schedule 1; but if more than one person is nominated and seconded, the Speaker must conduct a vote, as follows—

- (a) if after the first vote, a person who is nominated has the support of more than 50% of the members of Parliament, then that person assumes office as the Prime Minister by taking before the President the oath or affirmation of office set out in Schedule 1;
- (b) if after the first vote, no person who is nominated receives the support of more than 50% of the members of Parliament, a second vote must be held within 24 hours of the first vote and, if after the second vote, a person who is nominated has the support of more than 50% of the members of Parliament, then that person assumes office as the Prime Minister by taking before the President the oath or affirmation of office set out in Schedule 1;
- (c) if after the second vote, no person who is nominated receives the support of more than 50% of the members of Parliament, a third vote must be held within 24 hours of the second vote and, if after the third vote, a person who is nominated has the support of more than 50% of the members of Parliament, then that person assumes office as the Prime Minister by taking before the President the oath or affirmation of office set out in Schedule 1; and
- (d) if after the third vote, no person receives the support of more than 50% of the members of Parliament, the Speaker shall notify the President in writing of the inability of Parliament to appoint a Prime Minister, and the President shall, within 24 hours of the notification, dissolve Parliament and issue writs for elections to take place in accordance with this Constitution.

(4) A vacancy arises if the Prime Minister—

- (a) resigns, by written notice to the President;

- (b) ceases to be, or ceases to qualify to be, a member of Parliament; or
- (c) dies.

(5) If a vacancy arises in the office of Prime Minister under subsection (4), then the Speaker shall immediately convene Parliament and call for nominations from members of Parliament for the office of the Prime Minister and, if only one person is nominated and seconded, then that person assumes office as the Prime Minister by taking before the President the oath or affirmation of office set out in Schedule 1; but if more than one person is nominated and seconded, the Speaker must conduct a vote, as follows—

- (a) if after the first vote, a person who is nominated has the support of more than 50% of the members of Parliament, then that person assumes office as the Prime Minister by taking before the President the oath or affirmation of office set out in Schedule 1;
- (b) if after the first vote, no person who is nominated receives the support of more than 50% of the members of Parliament, a second vote must be held within 24 hours of the first vote and, if after the second vote, a person who is nominated has the support of more than 50% of the members of Parliament, then that person assumes office as the Prime Minister by taking before the President the oath or affirmation of office set out in Schedule 1;
- (c) if after the second vote, no person who is nominated receives the support of more than 50% of the members of Parliament, a third vote must be held within 24 hours of the second vote and, if after the third vote, a person who is nominated has the support of more than 50% of the members of Parliament, then that person assumes office as the Prime Minister by taking before the President the oath or affirmation of office set out in Schedule 1; and
- (d) if after the third vote, no person receives the support of more than 50% of the members of Parliament, the Speaker shall notify the President in writing of the inability of Parliament to appoint a Prime Minister, and the President shall, within 24 hours of the notification, dissolve Parliament and issue writs for elections to take place in accordance with this Constitution.

(6) The Prime Minister shall serve for the full term of Parliament, unless dismissed in a no confidence vote under section 93, and shall not be otherwise dismissed.

(7) The Prime Minister and other ministers continue in office until the next Prime Minister assumes office as Prime Minister after the elections in accordance with this section.

No confidence motion

93.—(1) The Prime Minister may only be dismissed by a motion of no confidence, which must also propose the name of another Member of Parliament to be the Prime Minister.

(2) A motion of no confidence must be called for a vote within 24 hours of it being introduced.

(3) A motion of no confidence passes if it is supported by at least a majority of the members of Parliament.

(4) If a motion of no confidence passes—

- (a) the incumbent Prime Minister immediately ceases to hold office;

- (b) every other member of Cabinet is deemed to have resigned; and
- (c) the person proposed to be Prime Minister, in the motion, assumes that office immediately upon being sworn in by the President.

(5) If a motion of no confidence fails against the incumbent Prime Minister, no further motion of no confidence may be introduced against him or her for at least six months.

Appointment of Ministers

94.—(1) Subject to section 95(3), a Minister must be a member of Parliament.

(2) Each member of Cabinet assumes office by taking the oath or affirmation of office set out in Schedule 1, as administered by the President.

(3) Each Minister continues in office unless he or she—

- (a) is removed by the Prime Minister;
- (b) ceases to be, or ceases to qualify to be, a member of Parliament; or
- (c) resigns by delivering a written statement of resignation to the Prime Minister.

(4) The Prime Minister may appoint a Minister to act in the office of another Minister during any period, or during all periods, when the other Minister is absent from duty or from Fiji or is, for any other reason, unable to perform the functions of office, and a notification of the appointment of an Acting Minister must be published in the Gazette.

Attorney-General

95.—(1) The Minister appointed as the Attorney-General is the chief legal adviser to the Government.

(2) A person is not qualified to be appointed as Attorney-General unless he or she—

- (a) is admitted as a legal practitioner in Fiji and has had not less than 15 years post-admission practice as a legal practitioner in Fiji; and
- (b) has not been found guilty in any proceeding by the Independent Legal Services Commission or in any proceeding under the law governing legal practitioners, barristers and solicitors prior to the establishment of the Independent Legal Services Commission.

(3) If there are no members of Parliament who are qualified to be appointed as the Attorney-General, the Prime Minister may appoint a person as the Attorney-General if that person—

- (a) is a legal practitioner who is qualified to be appointed as the Attorney-General under subsection (2); and
- (b) is qualified to be a candidate for election to Parliament under section 54.

(4) A person appointed as the Attorney-General under subsection (3) shall be entitled to take part in Cabinet as a Minister, and to sit in Parliament, provided however that he or she shall not be eligible to vote in Parliament.

(5) The Prime Minister may appoint a Minister or a member of Parliament or another person (in accordance with subsection (3)) who is qualified to be appointed as the Attorney-

General to act as Attorney-General during any period, or during all periods, when the Attorney-General is absent from duty or from Fiji or is, for any other reason, unable to perform the functions of office, and a notification of the acting appointment must be published in the Gazette.

CHAPTER 5—JUDICIARY

Judicial authority and independence

96.—(1) The judicial power and authority of the State is vested in the Supreme Court, the Court of Appeal, the High Court, the Magistrates Court, and in such other courts or tribunals as are created by law.

(2) The courts, the Judges and all other judicial officers are independent of the legislative and executive branches of Government, and are subject only to this Constitution and the law, which they must apply without fear, favour or prejudice.

(3) No person may interfere with the judicial functioning of the courts, or unreasonably interfere with the administrative functioning of the courts.

(4) Parliament and Cabinet, through legislative and other measures, must assist and protect the courts to ensure their independence, impartiality, accessibility and effectiveness.

(5) Parliament must ensure that the Judiciary has adequate financial and other resources to perform its functions and exercise its powers properly.

(6) The Judiciary has control of its own budget and finances, as approved by Parliament.

Supreme Court

97.—(1) The Supreme Court consists of—

- (a) the Chief Justice, who is the President of the Supreme Court; and
- (b) such other Judges as are appointed as Judges of the Supreme Court, to serve as the occasion requires.

(2) If deemed necessary by the Chief Justice, any of the Justices of Appeal may sit on a matter being heard by the Supreme Court.

(3) The Supreme Court—

- (a) is the final appellate court of Fiji;
- (b) has exclusive jurisdiction, subject to such requirements as prescribed by written law, to hear and determine appeals from all final judgments of the Court of Appeal; and
- (c) has original jurisdiction to hear and determine constitutional questions referred under section 90(6).

(4) An appeal may not be brought to the Supreme Court from a final judgment of the Court of Appeal unless the Supreme Court gives leave to appeal.

(5) In the exercise of its appellate jurisdiction, the Supreme Court may—

- (a) vary, set aside or affirm decisions or orders of the Court of Appeal, or
- (b) make any other order necessary for the administration of justice, including an order for a new trial or an order awarding costs.

(6) Decisions of the Supreme Court are, subject to subsection (7), binding on all other courts of the State.

(7) The Supreme Court may review any judgment, pronouncement or order made by it.

Court of Appeal

98.—(1) The Court of Appeal consists of—

- (a) a Judge, other than the Chief Justice, who is appointed as President of the Court of Appeal; and
- (b) such other Judges as are appointed as Justices of Appeal.

(2) If deemed necessary by the President of the Court of Appeal, any of the Judges of the High Court, other than the Chief Justice, may sit on a matter being heard by the Court of Appeal.

(3) The Court of Appeal has jurisdiction, subject to this Constitution and to such requirements as prescribed by written law, to hear and determine appeals from all judgments of the High Court, and has such other jurisdiction as is conferred by written law.

(4) Appeals lie to the Court of Appeal as of right from a final judgment of the High Court in any manner arising under this Constitution or involving its interpretation.

(5) A written law may provide that appeals lie to the Court of Appeal, as of right or with leave, from other judgments of the High Court in accordance with such requirements as prescribed in a written law or under the rules pertaining to the Court of Appeal.

High Court

99.—(1) The High Court consists of—

- (a) the Chief Justice;
- (b) such other Judges as are appointed as Judges of the High Court;
- (c) Masters of the High Court; and
- (d) Chief Registrar of the High Court.

(2) The jurisdiction and powers of the Masters of the High Court and the Chief Registrar of the High Court shall be prescribed by written law or by rules of court made by the Chief Justice.

(3) The High Court has unlimited original jurisdiction to hear and determine any civil or criminal proceedings under any law and such other original jurisdiction as is conferred on it under this Constitution or any written law.

(4) The High Court also has original jurisdiction in any matter arising under this Constitution or involving its interpretation.

(5) The High Court has jurisdiction, subject to conferral by written law of rights of appeal and to such requirements as may be prescribed by written law, to hear and determine appeals from all judgments of the Magistrates Court and other subordinate courts.

(6) The High Court has jurisdiction to supervise any civil or criminal proceedings before a Magistrates Court or other subordinate courts and may, on an application duly made to it, make such orders, issue such writs and give such directions as it considers appropriate to ensure that justice is duly administered by the Magistrates Court and other subordinate courts.

(7) If in any proceedings in a Magistrates Court or a subordinate court, a question arises as to the interpretation of this Constitution, the Magistrates Court or a subordinate court may decide the matter, and its decision may be appealed as of right to the High Court.

Magistrates Court

100.—(1) The Magistrates Court consists of—

- (a) the Chief Magistrate; and
- (b) such other Magistrates as are appointed by the Judicial Service Commission.

(2) The Magistrates Court has such jurisdiction as conferred by a written law.

Other courts

101. A written law may establish and determine the authority of other courts, tribunals or commissions, which may have a status similar to the High Court, or the Magistrates' Court, or other subordinate courts.

Court rules and procedures

102.—(1) The President of the Supreme Court may make rules of court and issue directions, consistent with this Constitution or a written law, for regulating and prescribing the practice and procedure to be followed in the Supreme Court.

(2) The President of the Court of Appeal may make rules of court and issue directions, consistent with this Constitution or a written law, for regulating and prescribing the practice and procedure to be followed in the Court of Appeal.

(3) The Chief Justice may make rules of court and issue directions, consistent with this Constitution or a written law, for regulating and prescribing the practice and procedure to be followed in the High Court and the Magistrates' Court.

Judicial Service Commission

103.—(1) This section establishes a Judicial Service Commission consisting of—

- (a) the Chief Justice, who is to be the chairperson;
- (b) the President of the Court of Appeal;
- (c) the Permanent Secretary responsible for the Ministry of Justice;
- (d) a legal practitioner with not less than 15 years post-admission practice, to be appointed by the President on the advice of the Attorney-General; and
- (e) a person, not being a legal practitioner, appointed by the President on the advice of the Attorney-General.

(2) The quorum for the meetings of the Judicial Service Commission shall consist of the chairperson and two other members.

(3) The Judicial Service Commission may make such rules as it deems fit for the performance of its functions.

(4) The members of the Judicial Service Commission mentioned in paragraphs (d) and (e) of subsection (1) are entitled to such allowances as may be fixed by written law.

(5) The secretary of the Judicial Service Commission shall be the Chief Registrar, or any other person performing the functions of that office.

(6) In addition to the functions conferred on it elsewhere in this Constitution, the Judicial Service Commission may investigate complaints about Judges and judicial officers of courts subordinate to the High Court.

(7) The Judicial Service Commission shall be responsible for promoting programmes for the continuing education and training of Judges and judicial officers.

(8) The Judicial Service Commission shall be responsible for the efficient functioning of the judiciary.

(9) The Judicial Service Commission shall provide regular updates and advice to the Attorney-General on any matter relating to the judiciary or the administration of justice.

Qualification for appointment

104.—(1) The making of appointments to a judicial office is governed by the principle that judicial officers should be of the highest competence and integrity.

(2) A person is not qualified for appointment as a Judge unless he or she—

- (a) holds, or has held a high judicial office in Fiji or in another country prescribed by law; or
- (b) has had not less than 15 years post-admission practice as a legal practitioner in Fiji or in another country prescribed by law.

(3) A person is not qualified for appointment as a Magistrate unless he or she—

- (a) holds, or has held a judicial office in Fiji or in another country prescribed by law; or
- (b) has had not less than 10 years post-admission practice as a legal practitioner in Fiji or in another country prescribed by law.

Appointment of Judges

105.—(1) The Chief Justice and the President of the Court of Appeal are appointed by the President on the advice of the Prime Minister following consultation by the Prime Minister with the Attorney-General.

(2) The Judges of the Supreme Court, the Justices of Appeal and the Judges of the High Court are appointed by the President on the recommendation of the Judicial Service Commission following consultation by it with the Attorney-General.

(3) The President may, on the advice of the Prime Minister following consultation by the Prime Minister with the Attorney-General, appoint a Judge or a person who is qualified for appointment as a Judge to act as Chief Justice during any period, or during all periods, when the office of Chief Justice is vacant or when the Chief Justice is absent from duty or from Fiji or is, for any reason, unable to perform the functions of office.

(4) The President may, on the recommendation of the Judicial Service Commission following consultation by it with the Attorney-General, appoint a person to act as a Judge of the High Court during any period or during all periods, when an office of a Judge of the High Court is vacant or when a Judge is absent from duty or from Fiji or is, for any reason, unable to perform the functions of office.

(5) A person is not eligible to be appointed under subsection (4) unless he or she is qualified for appointment as a Judge.

Other appointments

106.—(1) The Judicial Service Commission has the authority to appoint Magistrates, Masters of the High Court, the Chief Registrar, and other judicial officers as may be prescribed in any written law.

(2) In making appointments under subsection (1), the Judicial Service Commission must consult with the Attorney-General.

Judicial department employees

107.—(1) The Judicial Service Commission has the authority to appoint, remove and take disciplinary action against all non-judicial persons employed in the judiciary.

(2) The Judicial Service Commission has the authority to determine all matters pertaining to the employment of non-judicial persons employed in the judiciary, including—

- (a) the terms and conditions of employment;
- (b) the qualification requirements for appointment and the process to be followed for appointment, which must be an open, transparent and competitive selection process and selection must be based on merit;
- (c) the salaries, benefits and allowances payable, in accordance with the budget as approved by Parliament; and
- (d) the total establishment or the total number of non-judicial persons that are required to be appointed, in accordance with the budget as approved by Parliament.

(3) The Judicial Service Commission may by written notice delegate its powers and authority under this section to the Chief Registrar.

Oath of office

108. Before taking office, a Judge or Magistrate must take before the President, the oath of office set out in Schedule 1.

Tenure of office

109.—(1) A person who is not a citizen of Fiji and who is appointed to be a Judge in Fiji serves for a period not exceeding 3 years determined in each case by the Judicial Service Commission at the time of appointment, and may be eligible for re-appointment.

(2) Any other appointment as a Judge continues until the Judge reaches retirement age, which is—

- (a) for the Chief Justice, President of the Court of Appeal, Judges of the Supreme Court and Justices of Appeal — the age of 75; and
- (b) for the Judges of the High Court — the age of 70.

(3) A person who retired as a Judge of the High Court, but has not reached age 75, is eligible for appointment as a Judge of the Supreme Court or as a Justice of Appeal.

Removal of Chief Justice and President of the Court of Appeal for cause

110.—(1) The Chief Justice or the President of the Court of Appeal may be removed from office for inability to perform the functions of his or her office (whether arising from infirmity of body or mind or any other cause) or for misbehaviour, and may not otherwise be removed.

(2) Removal of the Chief Justice or the President of the Court of Appeal from office must be by the President pursuant to this section.

(3) If the President, acting on the advice of the Prime Minister considers that the question of removing the Chief Justice or the President of the Court of Appeal from office ought to be investigated, then—

- (a) the President, acting on the advice of the Prime Minister, shall appoint—
  - (i) in the case of alleged misbehaviour — a tribunal, consisting of a chairperson and not less than 2 other members, selected from among persons who hold or have held high judicial office in Fiji or in another country; and
  - (ii) in the case of alleged inability to perform the functions of office — a medical board, consisting of a chairperson and 2 other members, each of whom is a qualified medical practitioner;
- (b) the tribunal or medical board enquires into the matter and furnishes a written report of the facts to the President and advises the President of its recommendation whether or not the Chief Justice or the President of the Court of Appeal should be removed from office; and
- (c) in deciding whether or not to remove the Chief Justice or the President of the Court of Appeal, the President must act on the advice of the tribunal or medical board, as the case may be.

(4) The President may, on the advice of the Prime Minister, suspend the Chief Justice or the President of the Court of Appeal from office pending investigation and pending referral to and appointment of a tribunal or a medical board under subsection (3), and may at any time, revoke the suspension.

(5) The suspension of the Chief Justice or the President of the Court of Appeal from office under subsection (4) ceases to have effect if the President determines that the Chief Justice or the President of the Court of Appeal should not be removed from office.

(6) The President must make public the report of the tribunal or the recommendations of the medical board received by him under this section.

Removal of judicial officers for cause

111.—(1) A Judge, Magistrate, Master of the High Court, the Chief Registrar or any other judicial officer appointed by the Judicial Service Commission may be removed from office for inability to perform the functions of his or her office (whether arising from infirmity of body or mind or any other cause) or for misbehaviour, and may not otherwise be removed.

(2) Removal of a Judge, Magistrate, Master of the High Court, the Chief Registrar or any other judicial officer appointed by the Judicial Service Commission from office must be by the President pursuant to this section.

(3) If the President, acting on the advice of the Judicial Service Commission, considers that the question of removing a Judge, Magistrate, Master of the High Court, the Chief Registrar or any other judicial officer appointed by the Judicial Service Commission from office ought to be investigated, then—

- (a) the President, acting on the advice of the Judicial Service Commission, shall appoint—
  - (i) in the case of alleged misbehaviour — a tribunal, consisting of a chairperson and not less than 2 other members, selected from among persons who hold or have held high judicial office in Fiji or in another country; and
  - (ii) in the case of alleged inability to perform the functions of office — a medical board, consisting of a chairperson and 2 other members, each of whom is a qualified medical practitioner;
- (b) the tribunal or medical board enquires into the matter and furnishes a written report of the facts to the President and advises the President of its recommendation whether or not the Judge, Magistrate, Master of the High Court, the Chief Registrar or any other judicial officer appointed by the Judicial Service Commission should be removed from office; and
- (c) in deciding whether or not to remove a Judge, the President must act on the advice of the tribunal or medical board, as the case may be.

(4) The President may, acting on the advice of the Judicial Service Commission, suspend the Judge, Magistrate, Master of the High Court, the Chief Registrar or any other judicial officer appointed by the Judicial Service Commission from office pending investigation and pending referral to and appointment of a tribunal or a medical board under subsection (3), and may at any time, revoke the suspension.

(5) The suspension of the Judge, Magistrate, Master of the High Court, the Chief Registrar or any other judicial officer appointed by the Judicial Service Commission from office under subsection (4) ceases to have effect if the President determines that the Judge, Magistrate, Master of the High Court, the Chief Registrar or any other judicial officer appointed by the Judicial Service Commission should not be removed from office.

(6) The President must make public the report of the tribunal received by him under this section.

(7) This section does not apply to the Chief Justice or the President of the Court of Appeal.

Remuneration of judicial officers

112.—(1) The salaries and benefits payable to, or in respect of, a judicial officer must not be varied to the disadvantage of that judicial officer, except as part of an overall austerity reduction similarly applicable to all officers of the State.

(2) The salaries and benefits payable to any person appointed as a Judge, Magistrate, Master of the High Court, the Chief Registrar or other judicial officers appointed by the Judicial Service Commission shall be determined by the Judicial Service Commission, following consultation with the Prime Minister and the Attorney-General.

(3) The remuneration and benefits payable to or in respect of a judicial officer are a charge on the Consolidated Fund.

(4) A judicial officer is protected from civil or criminal action for anything said or done, or omitted to be done, in the performance of a judicial function.

Independent Legal Services Commission

113.—(1) The Independent Legal Services Commission established by the Legal Practitioners Decree 2009 continues in existence.

(2) The Independent Legal Services Commission shall consist of a Commissioner, who is, or is qualified to be appointed as a Judge.

(3) The Commissioner shall be appointed by the President, on the advice of the Attorney-General.

(4) The authority, functions and responsibility of the Independent Legal Services Commission shall be prescribed by written law.

(5) In the performance of his or her functions or the exercise of his or her authority and powers, the Commissioner shall be independent and shall not be subject to the direction or control of any person or authority, except by a court of law or as otherwise prescribed by written law.

Fiji Independent Commission Against Corruption

114.—(1) The Fiji Independent Commission Against Corruption established by the Fiji Independent Commission Against Corruption Promulgation 2007 continues in existence.

(2) The Fiji Independent Commission Against Corruption shall consist of a Commissioner, Deputy Commissioner and such other officers as may be appointed by law.

(3) The Commissioner and the Deputy Commissioner shall be appointed by the President, on the advice of the Attorney-General.

(4) The authority, functions and responsibility of the Fiji Independent Commission Against Corruption shall be prescribed by written law.

(5) Without prejudice to subsection (4), the Fiji Independent Commission Against Corruption may—

- (a) investigate, institute and conduct criminal proceedings;
- (b) take over investigations and criminal proceedings that fall under its responsibility and functions as prescribed by law, and which may have been initiated by another person or authority; and
- (c) discontinue, at any stage before judgment is delivered, criminal proceedings instituted or conducted by it.

(6) The powers of the Commissioner and the Deputy Commissioner of the Fiji Independent Commission Against Corruption may be exercised by him or her personally, his or her delegate, or through other persons acting on his or her instructions.

(7) In the performance of its functions or the exercise of its authority and powers, the Fiji Independent Commission Against Corruption shall be independent and shall not be subject to the direction or control of any person or authority, except by a court of law or as otherwise prescribed by written law.

(8) In exercising its powers and performing its functions and duties, the Fiji Independent Commission Against Corruption shall be guided by the standards established under the United Nations Convention Against Corruption.

(9) The Commissioner and the Deputy Commissioner of the Fiji Independent Commission Against Corruption shall have the authority to appoint, remove and discipline all staff (including administrative staff) in the Fiji Independent Commission Against Corruption.

(10) The Commissioner and the Deputy Commissioner of the Fiji Independent Commission Against Corruption has the authority to determine all matters pertaining to the employment of all staff in the Fiji Independent Commission Against Corruption, including—

- (a) the terms and conditions of employment;
- (b) the qualification requirements for appointment and the process to be followed for appointment, which must be an open, transparent and competitive selection process and selection must be based on merit;
- (c) the salaries, benefits and allowances payable, in accordance with the budget as approved by Parliament; and
- (d) the total establishment or the total number of staff that are required to be appointed, in accordance with the budget as approved by Parliament.

(11) The salaries, benefits and allowances payable to any person employed in the Fiji Independent Commission Against Corruption are a charge on the Consolidated Fund.

(12) Parliament shall ensure that adequate funding and resources are made available to the Fiji Independent Commission Against Corruption, to enable it to independently and effectively exercise its powers and perform its functions and duties.

(13) In this section, "criminal proceedings" means criminal proceedings before any court of law (other than a military court), and includes an appeal, case stated or question of law reserved.

Solicitor-General

115.—(1) The Office of the Solicitor-General established by the State Services Decree 2009 continues in existence.

(2) The Solicitor-General must be a person who is qualified to be appointed as a Judge.

(3) The Solicitor-General shall be appointed by the President on the recommendation of the Judicial Service Commission following consultation by it with the Attorney-General.

(4) The President may, on the recommendation of the Judicial Service Commission following consultation by it with the Attorney-General, appoint a person to act as the Solicitor-General during any period or during all periods, when the office of Solicitor-General is vacant or when the Solicitor-General is absent from duty or from Fiji or is, for any reason, unable to perform the functions of office.

(5) The Solicitor-General shall have the same tenure of office as a Judge of the High Court, and shall be paid such salaries and benefits as determined by the Judicial Service Commission in consultation with the Attorney-General provided however that such salaries and benefits shall not be less than that payable to a Judge of the High Court.

(6) The Solicitor-General may be removed from office for inability to perform the functions of his or her office (whether arising from infirmity of body or mind or any other cause) or for misbehaviour, and may not otherwise be removed.

(7) The procedure for removal of the Solicitor-General from office shall be the same as the procedure for removal of a judicial officer under section 111.

(8) The Solicitor-General has the same status as that of a permanent secretary and shall be responsible as the Permanent Secretary for the Office of the Attorney-General.

(9) The Solicitor-General shall have the authority to appoint, remove and institute disciplinary action against all staff (including administrative staff) in the Office of the Attorney-General.

(10) The Solicitor-General has the authority to determine all matters pertaining to the employment of all staff in the Office of the Attorney-General, including—

- (a) the terms and conditions of employment;
- (b) the qualification requirements for appointment and the process to be followed for appointment, which must be an open, transparent and competitive selection process and selection must be based on merit;
- (c) the salaries, benefits and allowances payable, in accordance with the budget as approved by Parliament; and
- (d) the total establishment or the total number of staff that are required to be appointed, in accordance with the budget as approved by Parliament.

(11) The salaries, benefits and allowances payable to any person employed in the Office of the Attorney-General are a charge on the Consolidated Fund.

(12) The Solicitor General is responsible for—

- (a) providing independent legal advice to Government and to the holder of a public office, on request;
- (b) preparing draft laws on the request of Cabinet;
- (c) maintaining a publicly accessible register of all written law;
- (d) representing the State in court in any legal proceedings to which the State is a party, other than criminal proceedings; and
- (e) performing any other functions assigned by this Constitution, any written law, Cabinet or the Attorney-General.

(13) The Solicitor General, with the permission of the court, may appear as a friend of the court in any civil proceedings to which the State is not a party.

(14) Any functions assigned to the Solicitor General may be exercised in person or by subordinate officers acting in accordance with general or special instructions.

Director of Public Prosecutions

116.—(1) The Office of the Director of Public Prosecutions established under the State Services Decree 2009 continues in existence.

(2) The Director of Public Prosecutions must be a person who is qualified to be appointed as a Judge.

(3) The Director of Public Prosecutions shall be appointed by the President on the recommendation of the Judicial Service Commission following consultation by it with the Attorney-General.

(4) The President may, on the recommendation of the Judicial Service Commission following consultation by it with the Attorney-General, appoint a person to act as the Director of Public Prosecutions during any period or during all periods, when the office of the Director of Public Prosecutions is vacant or when the Director of Public Prosecutions is absent from duty or from Fiji or is, for any reason, unable to perform the functions of office.

(5) The Director of Public Prosecutions shall be appointed for a term of 7 years and is eligible for re-appointment, and shall be paid such salaries and benefits as determined by the Judicial Service Commission in consultation with the Attorney-General provided however that such salaries and benefits shall not be less than that payable to a Judge of the High Court.

(6) The Director of Public Prosecutions may be removed from office for inability to perform the functions of his or her office (whether arising from infirmity of body or mind or any other cause) or for misbehaviour, and may not otherwise be removed.

(7) The procedure for removal of the Director of Public Prosecutions from office shall be the same as the procedure for removal of a judicial officer under section 111.

(8) The Director of Public Prosecutions may—

- (a) institute and conduct criminal proceedings;
- (b) take over criminal proceedings that have been instituted by another person or authority (except proceedings instituted by the Fiji Independent Commission Against Corruption);
- (c) discontinue, at any stage before judgment is delivered, criminal proceedings instituted or conducted by the Director of Public Prosecutions or another person or authority (except proceedings instituted or conducted by the Fiji Independent Commission Against Corruption); and
- (d) intervene in proceedings that raise a question of public interest that may affect the conduct of criminal proceedings or criminal investigations.

(9) The powers of the Director of Public Prosecutions may be exercised by the Director personally, or through other persons acting on the Director's instructions.

(10) In the exercise of the powers conferred under this section, the Director of Public Prosecutions shall not be subject to the direction or control of any other person or authority.

(11) The Director of Public Prosecutions may appoint any legal practitioner whether from Fiji or from another country to be a public prosecutor for the purposes of any criminal proceeding.

(12) The Director of Public Prosecutions shall have the authority to appoint, remove and institute disciplinary action against all staff (including administrative staff) in the office of the Director of Public Prosecutions.

(13) The Director of Public Prosecutions has the authority to determine all matters pertaining to the employment of all staff in the Office of the Director of Public Prosecutions, including—

- (a) the terms and conditions of employment;
- (b) the qualification requirements for appointment and the process to be followed for appointment, which must be an open, transparent and competitive selection process and selection must be based on merit;
- (c) the salaries, benefits and allowances payable, in accordance with the budget as approved by Parliament; and
- (d) the total establishment or the total number of staff that are required to be appointed, in accordance with the budget as approved by Parliament.

(14) The salaries, benefits and allowances payable to any person employed in the office of the Director of Public Prosecutions are a charge on the Consolidated Fund.

(15) Parliament shall ensure that adequate funding and resources are made available to the office of the Director of Public Prosecutions, to enable it to independently and effectively exercise its powers and perform its functions and duties.

(16) In this section, "criminal proceedings" means criminal proceedings before any court of law (other than a military court), and includes an appeal, case stated or question of law reserved.

Mercy Commission

117.—(1) The Commission on the Prerogative of Mercy established under the State Services Decree 2009 continues in existence as the Mercy Commission.

(2) The Mercy Commission consists of —

- (a) the Attorney-General who is to be its chairperson; and
- (b) 2 other members appointed by the President, acting in his or her own judgment.

(3) On the petition of any convicted person, the Mercy Commission may recommend that the President exercise a power of mercy by—

- (a) granting a free or conditional pardon to a person convicted of an offence;
- (b) postponing the carrying out of a punishment, either for a specific or indeterminate period; or
- (c) remitting all or a part of a punishment.

(4) The Mercy Commission may dismiss a petition that it reasonably considers to be frivolous, vexatious or entirely without merit, but otherwise—

- (a) must consider a report on the case prepared by—
  - (i) the Judge who presided at the trial; or
  - (ii) the Chief Justice, if a report cannot be obtained from the presiding Judge;

- (b) must consider any other information derived from the record of the case or elsewhere that is available to the Commission; and
- (c) may consider the views of the victims of the offence.

(5) The President must act in accordance with the recommendations of the Commission.

Existing appointments

118. Nothing in this Chapter affects the continuance of a person in an office for which this Chapter makes provision for, under an appointment made before the commencement of this Constitution.

CHAPTER 6—STATE SERVICE

Part A—PUBLIC SERVICE

Values and principles

119.—(1) The values and principles of state service include —

- (a) faithfully carry out the policies of the Government and administer the law;
- (b) free from corruption;
- (c) high standards of professionalism, including professional ethics and integrity;
- (d) prompt implementation of Government policy and administration of laws;
- (e) efficient, effective and economic use of public resources;
- (f) prompt response to requests and questions from the public, and delivery of service to the public, in a manner that is respectful, effective, impartial, fair, and equitable;
- (g) accountability for administrative conduct;
- (h) transparency, including—
  - (i) timely, accurate disclosure of information to the public; and
  - (ii) prompt, complete and candid reporting to Parliament, as required by law;
- (i) cultivation of good human resource management and career development practices, to maximise human potential; and
- (j) recruitment and promotion based on—
  - (i) objectivity, impartiality and fair competition; and
  - (ii) ability, education, experience and other characteristics of merit.

Public officeholders must be citizens

120. A person or authority exercising power to appoint a person to a public office (other than an office for which Chapter 5 makes provision) must not appoint a person who is not a citizen except with the agreement of the Prime Minister.

Public Service Commission

121.—(1) The Public Service Commission established under the State Services Decree 2009 continues in existence.

(2) The Public Service Commission consists of—

- (a) a chairperson; and
- (b) not less than 3 nor more than 5 other members, appointed by the President on the advice of the Prime Minister.

(3) If the office of the chairperson of the Public Service Commission is vacant or the chairperson is absent from duty or from Fiji or is, for any other reason, unable to perform the functions of office, the President may, on the advice of the Prime Minister, appoint a person to act as the chairperson of the Public Service Commission.

(4) The President may, on the advice of the Prime Minister, appoint a person to act as a member of the Public Service Commission during any period, or during all periods, when the member is absent from duty or from Fiji or is, for any other reason, unable to perform the functions of office.

Functions of Public Service Commission

122.—(1) Subject to this section and other sections of this Constitution, the Public Service Commission has the following functions—

- (a) to appoint permanent secretaries, with the agreement of the Prime Minister;
- (b) to remove permanent secretaries, with the agreement of the Prime Minister;
- (c) to institute disciplinary action against permanent secretaries; and
- (d) to make such other appointments and perform such other duties, functions and responsibilities as may be prescribed by written law.

(2) The functions of the Public Service Commission do not extend to—

- (a) an office of a Judge or an office that is the responsibility of the Judicial Service Commission;
- (b) an office that is the responsibility of another body prescribed by written law;
- (c) an office in the Republic of Fiji Military Forces, Fiji Police Force or the Fiji Corrections Service; or
- (d) an office in respect of which this Constitution makes provision.

Permanent secretaries

123.—(1) There is established within each ministry the office of a permanent secretary, which is an office in the public service.

(2) Each ministry is to be under the administration of a permanent secretary, and any department of Government that is not part of any ministry shall be under the administration of the permanent secretary responsible for the office of the Prime Minister.

(3) The permanent secretary of a ministry is responsible to the Minister concerned for the efficient, effective and economical management of the ministry or any department under the ministry.

(4) The Prime Minister may at any time re-assign one or more permanent secretaries among the various ministries of the State.

(5) A permanent secretary may resign from office by giving written notice to the Prime Minister.

(6) The permanent secretary of each ministry shall have the authority to appoint, remove and institute disciplinary action against all staff of the ministry, with the agreement of the Minister responsible for the ministry.

(7) The permanent secretary of each ministry, with the agreement of the Minister responsible for the Ministry, has the authority to determine all matters pertaining to the employment of all staff in the ministry, including—

- (a) the terms and conditions of employment;
- (b) the qualification requirements for appointment and the process to be followed for appointment, which must be an open, transparent and competitive selection process and selection must be based on merit;
- (c) the salaries, benefits and allowances payable, in accordance with the budget as approved by Parliament; and
- (d) the total establishment or the total number of staff that are required to be appointed, in accordance with the budget as approved by Parliament.

Appointment of Ambassadors

124.—(1) The Prime Minister may, on the advice of the Minister responsible for foreign affairs, make appointments to offices of ambassador, or of other principal representative, of the State to another country or an international organisation.

(2) The Prime Minister may, on the advice of the Minister responsible for foreign affairs, remove a person from an office referred to in subsection (1).

Retirement age

125.—(1) Except as otherwise provided in this Constitution with respect to any office established or continued in existence by this Constitution, all persons employed in the public service shall retire at the age of 55 years.

(2) Nothing in this section prevents, upon retirement, the continued employment of a person on a fixed term contractual employment, if his or her services are required in the Government.

Contractual employment

126. Except as otherwise provided in this Constitution with respect to any office established or continued in existence by this Constitution, the appointment and promotion of all persons employed in the public service shall be on a fixed term contractual basis, with eligibility for re-appointment.

Public Service Disciplinary Tribunal

127.—(1) This section establishes the Public Service Disciplinary Tribunal.

(2) The Tribunal shall consist of a chairperson and two other members, appointed by the Prime Minister, following consultation with the Chief Justice.

(3) In addition to such other functions as may be conferred by written law, the Tribunal shall have the function of hearing and determining disciplinary action instituted by—

- (a) the Public Service Commission — against any permanent secretary; or

- (b) a permanent secretary, the Solicitor-General or the Director of Public Prosecutions — against any person employed in their respective ministries or offices.

(4) Any decision of the Tribunal shall be subject to review by the High Court.

(5) A written law may make further provision for the Tribunal, including rules and procedures for the hearings before the Tribunal.

Part B—DISCIPLINED FORCES

Fiji Police Force

128.—(1) The Fiji Police Force established under written law continues in existence.

(2) The office of the Commissioner of Police established under the State Services Decree 2009 continues in existence.

(3) The Fiji Police Force is under the command of the Commissioner of Police.

(4) The Commissioner of Police is appointed by the Prime Minister, following consultation with the Minister responsible for the Fiji Police Force.

(5) The Commissioner of Police is responsible for—

- (a) the organisation and administration of the Fiji Police Force; and
- (b) the deployment and control of its operations,

and, subject to subsection (6), is not subject to direction or control by any other person or authority in relation to those matters.

(6) The Minister responsible for the Fiji Police Force may from time to time issue general policy directions to the Commissioner of Police and, if such a direction has been issued, the Commissioner of Police must act in accordance with it.

(7) A written law may prescribe provisions relating to the Fiji Police Force.

(8) For the avoidance of doubt, the retirement age in the Fiji Police Force (excluding the Commissioner of Police) shall be 55 years.

(9) The appointment and promotion of all persons employed in the Fiji Police Force shall be on a fixed term contractual basis, with eligibility for re-appointment.

(10) The Commissioner of Police has the following powers in relation to the Fiji Police Force for all ranks, members and other employees, of the Fiji Police Force—

- (a) to appoint persons to the Fiji Police Force;
- (b) to remove persons from the Fiji Police Force; and
- (c) to take disciplinary action against persons in the Fiji Police Force.

Fiji Corrections Service

129.—(1) The Fiji Corrections Service established under a written law continues in existence.

(2) The office of the Commissioner of Corrections established under the State Services Decree 2009 continues in existence.

(3) The Fiji Corrections Service is under the command of the Commissioner of Corrections.

(4) The Commissioner of Corrections is appointed by the Prime Minister, following consultation with the minister responsible for the Fiji Corrections Service.

(5) The Commissioner of Corrections is responsible for—

- (a) the organisation and administration of the Fiji Corrections Service; and
- (b) the deployment and control of its operations,

and, subject to subsection (6), is not subject to direction or control by any other person or authority in relation to those matters.

(6) The Minister responsible for the Fiji Corrections Service may from time to time issue general policy directions with respect to the Fiji Corrections Service and, if such a direction has been issued, the Commissioner of Corrections must act in accordance with it.

(7) A written law may prescribe provisions relating to the Fiji Corrections Service.

(8) For the avoidance of doubt, the retirement age in the Fiji Corrections Service (excluding the Commissioner of Corrections) shall be 55 years.

(9) The appointment and promotion of all persons employed in the Fiji Corrections Service shall be on a fixed term contractual basis, with eligibility for re-appointment.

(10) The Commissioner of Corrections has the following powers in relation to the Fiji Corrections Service for all ranks, members and other employees of the Fiji Corrections Service—

- (a) to appoint persons to the Fiji Corrections Service;
- (b) to remove persons from the Fiji Corrections Service; and
- (c) to take disciplinary action against persons in the Fiji Corrections Service.

Republic of Fiji Military Forces

130.—(1) The Republic of Fiji Military Forces established under the State Services Decree 2009 continues in existence.

(2) It shall be the overall responsibility of the Republic of Fiji Military Forces to ensure at all times the security, defence and well-being of Fiji and all its residents.

(3) The Prime Minister must appoint a Commander of the Republic of Fiji Military Forces, who shall be responsible for exercising military executive command of the Republic of Fiji Military Forces.

(4) The Commander of the Republic of Fiji Military Forces has the following powers in relation to the Republic of Fiji Military Forces for all ranks, members and other employees of the Republic of Fiji Military Forces—

- (a) to appoint persons to the Republic of Fiji Military Forces;
- (b) to remove persons from the Republic of Fiji Military Forces; and

(c) to take disciplinary action against persons in the Republic of Fiji Military Forces.

(5) For the avoidance of doubt, the retirement age in the Republic of Fiji Military Forces (excluding the Commander of the Republic of Fiji Military Forces) shall be 55 years.

(6) A written law may prescribe provisions relating to the Republic of Fiji Military Forces.

CHAPTER 7—REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE

Raising of revenue

131.—(1) The raising by the Government of revenue or moneys, whether through the imposition of taxation or otherwise, must be authorised by or under a written law.

(2) No taxation or fee may be imposed, waived or varied by the State, except as provided by written law.

(3) If a written law permits the waiver or variation of any tax or fee—

- (a) a public record of each waiver or variation must be maintained together with the reason for it; and
- (b) each waiver or variation, and the reason for it, must be reported to the Auditor General.

(4) No law may exempt, or authorise the exemption of, a public officer from payment of any tax or fee by reason of—

- (a) the office held by that public officer; or
- (b) the nature of the work of the public officer.

Consolidated Fund

132.—(1) All revenue or moneys raised or received for the purposes of the State or Government must be paid into one Consolidated Fund.

(2) Subsection (1) does not apply to revenue or moneys that are payable by or under a written law into some other fund established for a specific purpose or that may, by or under a written law, be retained by the authority receiving them for the purposes of defraying the expenses of that authority.

Appropriations to be authorised by law

133. Moneys must not be withdrawn from the Consolidated Fund or from a fund referred to in subsection 132(2) except under an appropriation made by law.

Authorisation of expenditure in advance of appropriation

134.—(1) Subject to any written law, if the Appropriation Act for a year has not come into operation by the beginning of the year, the Minister responsible for finance may, to the extent and subject to the conditions prescribed in any written law, authorise the withdrawal of moneys from the Consolidated Fund for the ordinary services of Government.

(2) The total amount authorised for withdrawal under subsection (1) must not exceed one-third of the appropriations made for the ordinary services of Government in respect of the immediately preceding year.

Appropriation and taxing measures require ministerial consent

135. Any written law, that—

- (a) appropriates revenue or moneys or increases such an appropriation;
- (b) imposes taxation or an increase in taxation; or
- (c) reduces the amount of any debt due to the State;

may only be passed by Parliament with the consent of Cabinet, as signified by the Minister responsible for finance.

Annual budget

136.—(1) In respect of each year ending on 31 December or on such other day as Parliament prescribes, the Minister responsible for finance must cause to be laid before Parliament an annual budget, reflecting estimates or revenue and of capital and current expenditure for the year, in respect of the ordinary services of the Government and services of Parliament.

(2) A written law may prescribe the manner in which annual estimates are to be prepared.

Guarantees by Government

137.—(1) The Government must not guarantee the financial ability of any person or body in respect of a loan or otherwise unless the giving of the guarantee is authorised by Parliament in accordance with conditions prescribed by law.

(2) Parliament, by resolution, may require the Minister responsible for finance to present to Parliament, within 7 days after the resolution, information concerning any particular loan or guarantee, including all information necessary to show—

- (a) the extent of the total indebtedness by way of principal and accumulated interest;
- (b) the use made or to be made of the proceeds of the loan or the purpose of the guarantee;
- (c) the provisions made for servicing or repayment of the loan; and
- (d) the progress made in the repayment of the loan.

Public moneys to be accounted for

138. All public moneys must be dealt with and accounted for in accordance with law and otherwise in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the public sector.

Standing appropriation of Consolidated Fund for payment of certain salaries and allowances

139.—(1) This section applies to—

- (a) the President;
- (b) a judicial officer;
- (c) the members of the Human Rights and Anti-Discrimination Commission;
- (d) the members of the Electoral Commission;
- (e) the members of the Accountability and Transparency Commission;
- (f) the Supervisor of Elections;
- (g) the Secretary-General of Parliament;
- (h) the Solicitor-General;
- (i) the Director of Public Prosecutions;
- (j) the Commissioner and Deputy Commissioner of the Fiji Independent Commission Against Corruption;

- (k) the members of the Mercy Commission;
- (l) the members of the Public Service Commission;
- (m) the Commissioner of Police;
- (n) the Commissioner of Fiji Corrections Service;
- (o) the Commander of the Republic of Fiji Military Forces;
- (p) members of tribunals established or may be established under this Constitution;
and
- (q) the Auditor-General.

(2) The salaries or allowances payable to a person to whom this section applies are payable out of the Consolidated Fund, which is appropriated accordingly.

Standing appropriation of Consolidated Fund for other purposes

140.—(1) All debt charges for which the State is liable and all pension benefits (except to the extent that they are a charge on another fund and have been paid out of that fund to the person or authority to whom payment is due) are payable out of the Consolidated Fund, which is appropriated accordingly.

(2) In this section—

"debt charges" means interest, sinking fund charges, amounts due in respect of repayment or amortisation of debt, and other expenditure incurred in connection with the raising of loans on the security of the revenue of the State or the Consolidated Fund;

"eligible service" means service in a public office but does not include service in a naval, military or air force; and

"pension benefits" means pensions, compensation, gratuities or other like payments payable to persons in respect of their eligible service or to their spouses, dependents, or personal representatives in respect of that service.

CHAPTER 8—ACCOUNTABILITY AND TRANSPARENCY

Part A—CODE OF CONDUCT

Accountability and Transparency Commission

141.—(1) This section establishes the Accountability and Transparency Commission.

(2) The Accountability and Transparency Commission shall consist of a chairperson and 2 other members appointed by the President, following consultation with the Prime Minister and the Chief Justice.

(3) The chairperson of the Accountability and Transparency Commission must be a person who is, or is qualified to be appointed as a Judge.

(4) A written law shall—

- (a) establish a code of conduct which shall be applicable to the President, Speaker, Deputy Speaker, Prime Minister, Ministers, members of Parliament, holders of offices established by or continued in existence under this Constitution or under any written law, members of commissions, permanent secretaries, ambassadors or other principal representatives of the State, and persons who hold statutory appointments or governing or executive positions in statutory authorities, and to such other offices (including public offices) as may be prescribed under the written law;
- (b) establish rules, processes and procedures for the implementation of the code of conduct by the Accountability and Transparency Commission;
- (c) provide for the monitoring by the Accountability and Transparency Commission of compliance with the code of conduct by the officers mentioned in paragraph (a);
- (d) make provision for the investigation of alleged breaches of the code of conduct and enforcement of the code of conduct by the Accountability and Transparency Commission, including through criminal and disciplinary proceedings, and provide for the removal from office of those officers who are found to be in breach of the code of conduct;
- (e) provide for the protection of whistle-blowers, being persons who, in good faith, make disclosures that an officer mentioned in paragraph (a) has contravened any written law or has breached the code of conduct or has engaged in fraudulent or corrupt practices;
- (f) provide for the annual declaration by the officers mentioned in paragraph (a) of their assets and liabilities and financial interests to the Accountability and Transparency Commission, and for such declarations to be accessible to the public; and
- (g) further prescribe the powers, functions and responsibilities of the Accountability and Transparency Commission.

(5) A written law shall provide the Accountability and Transparency Commission with the jurisdiction, authority and powers to receive and investigate complaints against permanent secretaries and all persons holding a public office.

(6) In the performance of its functions or the exercise of its authority and powers, the Accountability and Transparency Commission shall be independent and shall not be subject to the direction or control of any person or authority, except by a court of law or as otherwise prescribed by written law.

Part B—FREEDOM OF INFORMATION

Freedom of information

142. A written law shall make provision for the exercise by the member of the public of the rights to access official information and documents held by the State and other public entities.

Part C—AUDITOR-GENERAL

Auditor-General

143.—(1) The office of the Auditor-General established under the State Services Decree 2009 continues in existence.

(2) The Auditor-General is appointed by the Prime Minister following consultation with the Minister responsible for finance.

(3) The Prime Minister may, following consultation with the Minister responsible for finance, appoint a person to act as Auditor-General during any period, or during all periods, when the office of Auditor-General is vacant or when the Auditor-General is absent from duty or from Fiji or is, for any reason, unable to perform the functions of office.

Functions of Auditor-General

144.—(1) At least once in every year, the Auditor-General shall inspect and audit and report to Parliament on—

- (a) the public accounts of the State;
- (b) the control of public money and public property of the State; and
- (c) all transactions with or concerning the public money or public property.

(2) In the report, the Auditor-General must state whether, in his or her opinion—

- (a) transactions with or concerning the public money or public property of the State have been authorised by or pursuant to this Constitution or any written law; and
- (b) expenditure has been applied to the purpose for which it was authorised.

(3) A written law may make further provisions in relation to the office of the Auditor-General and may confer further functions and powers on the Auditor-General.

(4) In the performance of his or her duties, the Auditor-General or a person authorised by him or her has access to all records, books, vouchers, stores or other Government property in the possession, custody or control of any person or authority.

(5) A written law may provide that the accounts of a specified body corporate are not subject to audit by the Auditor-General but are to be audited as prescribed in that written law.

(6) If the written law so provides, it must also empower the Auditor-General to review those audits and report the results of a review.

(7) The Auditor-General must submit a report made by him or her to the Speaker of Parliament and must submit a copy to the Minister responsible for finance.

(8) Within 30 days of receipt, or if Parliament is not sitting, on the first day after the end of that period, the Minister responsible for finance must lay the report before Parliament.

Part D—RESERVE BANK OF FIJI

Reserve Bank of Fiji

145.—(1) The Reserve Bank of Fiji is the central bank of the State, whose primary objects are—

- (a) to protect the value of the currency in the interest of balanced and sustainable economic growth;
- (b) to formulate monetary policy;
- (c) to promote price stability;
- (d) to issue currency; and
- (e) to perform other functions conferred on it by a written law.

(2) In pursuing its primary objects, the Reserve Bank of Fiji must perform its functions independently and without fear, favour or prejudice, but there must be regular consultation between the Bank and the Minister responsible for finance.

(3) The powers and functions of the Reserve Bank of Fiji are those customarily exercised and performed by central banks.

(4) The Governor of the Reserve Bank of Fiji shall be appointed by the Prime Minister on the advice of the Minister responsible for Finance.

(5) A written law must provide for the composition, powers, functions and operations of the Reserve Bank of Fiji.

(6) The Reserve Bank must deliver quarterly and annual reports to Parliament, and any other reports when required by law, or requested by resolution.

Part E—GENERAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO PUBLIC OFFICES

Application

146. This Part applies to—

- (a) the Supervisor of Elections;
- (b) the Secretary-General to Parliament;
- (c) the Commissioner of Police;
- (d) the Commissioner of Fiji Corrections Service;
- (e) the Commander of the Republic of Fiji Military Forces;
- (f) the Auditor-General;

- (g) the members of the Human Rights and Anti-Discrimination Commission;
- (h) the members of the Electoral Commission;
- (i) the members of the Judicial Service Commission referred to in section 103(1)(d) and (e);
- (j) the members of the Mercy Commission;
- (k) the members of the Public Service Commission; and
- (l) the members of the Accountability and Transparency Commission.

Terms and conditions of office

147.—(1) Subject to this section, a person holding the office referred to in paragraphs (a) to (f) inclusive of section 146 holds office for 5 years and is eligible for re-appointment.

(2) Subject to this section, a person holding the office referred to in paragraphs (g) to (l) inclusive of section 146 holds office for 3 years, and is eligible for re-appointment.

(3) The term of appointment of a person holding office referred to in paragraphs (a) to (f) inclusive of section 146 expires upon his or her reaching the age of 65 years, and a person must not be appointed or re-appointed if he or she has reached that age.

(4) The appointment of a person to whom this Part applies is subject to the terms and conditions (if any) set out in it.

(5) In the performance of his or her duties or functions or the exercise of his or her powers, a person to whom this Part applies is not subject to direction or control by any person, except as provided under this Constitution or by a written law.

Remuneration and allowances

148.—(1) A person to whom this Part applies is entitled to such remuneration and allowances as determined by the Prime Minister, and the remuneration and allowances must not reduce during his or her term in office.

(2) In determining the remuneration and allowances under subsection (1), the Prime Minister must establish an independent committee which shall advise the Prime Minister on the appropriate remuneration and allowances that should be payable to a person to whom this Part applies.

Removal from office for cause

149.—(1) A person to whom this Part applies may be removed from office for inability to perform the functions of his or her office (whether arising from infirmity of body or mind or any other cause) or for misbehaviour, and may not otherwise be removed.

(2) Removal from office must be pursuant to this section.

(3) If the Prime Minister considers that the question of removal from office ought to be investigated, then—

- (a) the Prime Minister appoints —
  - (i) in the case of alleged misbehaviour — a tribunal, consisting of a chairperson and not less than 2 other members, selected from among persons who hold or are qualified to hold the office of a Judge; and

- (ii) in the case of alleged inability to perform the functions of office — a medical board, consisting of a chairperson and 2 other members, each of whom is a qualified medical practitioner;
- (b) the tribunal or medical board enquires into the matter and furnishes a written report of the facts to the Prime Minister and advises the Prime Minister of its recommendation whether or not the person concerned should be removed from office; and
- (c) in deciding whether or not to remove the person concerned from office, the Prime Minister must act in accordance with the advice of the tribunal or medical board, as the case may be.

(4) The Prime Minister may, on such terms and conditions as he or she deems fit, suspend the person concerned from office pending investigation and pending referral to and appointment of a tribunal or a medical board under subsection (3), and may at any time, revoke the suspension.

(5) The suspension of the person concerned from office under subsection (4) ceases to have effect if the Prime Minister determines that the person should not be removed from office.

(6) The Prime Minister shall make the report of the tribunal or the recommendations of the medical board, as the case may be, public.

Performance of functions of commissions and tribunals

150.—(1) A commission may by regulation make provision for regulating and facilitating the performance of its functions.

(2) A decision of a commission requires the concurrence of a majority of its members and the commission may act despite the absence of a member but, if, in a particular case, a vote is taken to decide a question and the votes cast are equally divided, the person presiding must exercise a casting vote.

(3) Subject to this section, a commission may regulate its own procedures.

(4) In the performance of its functions or the exercise of its powers, a commission is not subject to the direction or control of any other person or authority, except as otherwise provided by this Constitution.

(5) Nothing in subsection (4) limits the responsibility of the Government for the structure of the state service, nor the Government's general policy responsibility for the management of the state service.

(6) In addition to the functions conferred on it by or under this Constitution, a commission has such powers and other functions (if any) as are prescribed.

(7) The validity of the transaction of business of a commission is not affected if someone who was not entitled to do so took part in the proceedings.

(8) Subsections (1), (2), (3) and (4) apply in relation to a tribunal or a medical board that may be established under the provisions of this Constitution in the same way as they apply in relation to a commission, and a tribunal that may be established under the provisions of this Constitution has the same powers as the High Court in respect of attendance and examination of witnesses (including the administration of oaths and the examination of witnesses abroad) and in respect of production of documents.

CHAPTER 9—EMERGENCY POWERSState of emergency*

151.—(1) The Prime Minister may, on the recommendation of the Commissioner of Police and the Commander of the Republic of Fiji Military Forces, declare a state of emergency in Fiji, or in a part of Fiji, and may make regulations relating to a state of emergency, if there are reasonable grounds to believe that—

- (a) the security and safety of all or part of Fiji is threatened; and
- (b) it is necessary to declare a state of emergency to deal effectively with the threatening circumstances.

(2) If the declaration of a state of emergency is made when Parliament is sitting, the Prime Minister must, within 24 hours upon making the declaration, refer the declaration to Parliament for confirmation of Parliament.

(3) If the declaration of a state of emergency is made when Parliament is not sitting, the Speaker must, within 48 hours upon the making of the declaration, seek confirmation of the declaration from the members of Parliament through such measures of communication as necessary.

(4) If majority of the members of Parliament confirm the declaration made by the Prime Minister, then the declaration shall continue for a period of 1 month from the date of confirmation, and may be renewed by a further vote in Parliament.

(5) If majority of the members of Parliament do not confirm the declaration made by the Prime Minister, then the declaration and any actions taken under the declaration shall be deemed to be of no effect.

CHAPTER 10—IMMUNITY

Immunity granted under the 1990 Constitution continues

152. Notwithstanding the abrogation of the Constitution Amendment Act 1997 and despite the repeal of the Constitution of the Sovereign Democratic Republic of Fiji (Promulgation) Decree 1990, Chapter XIV of the Constitution of 1990 continues in force in accordance with its tenor, and the immunity granted in Chapter XIV of the Constitution of 1990 shall continue.

Immunity granted under the Limitation of Liability for Prescribed Political Events Decree 2010 continues

153.—(1) The immunities granted to prescribed persons for prescribed political events under the Limitation of Liability for Prescribed Political Events Decree 2010 shall continue in existence.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Constitution, the Limitation of Liability for Prescribed Political Events Decree 2010 shall, in its entirety, continue in existence and shall not be reviewed, amended, altered, repealed or revoked by Parliament.

Further immunity

154. Absolute and unconditional immunity is irrevocably granted to any person holding the office of, or holding the office in, as the case may be—

- (a) the President;
- (b) Prime Minister and Cabinet Ministers;
- (c) Republic of Fiji Military Forces,
- (d) Fiji Police Force;
- (e) Fiji Corrections Service;
- (f) Judiciary;
- (g) public service; and
- (h) any public office,

from any criminal prosecution and from any civil or any other liability in any court or tribunal, in any proceeding including any legal, military, disciplinary or professional proceedings and from any order or judgment of any court or tribunal, as a result of any direct or indirect participation, appointment or involvement in the Government from December 2006 to date of the first sitting of Parliament elected after the commencement of this Constitution; provided however any such immunity for the period between 18 July 2012 to the date of the first sitting of Parliament elected after the commencement of this Constitution shall not apply to any act or omission that constitutes an offence under sections 77 to 390 of the Crimes Decree 2009.

Immunity entrenched

155.—(1) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Constitution, this Chapter and any immunity granted or continued in this Chapter shall not be reviewed, amended, altered, repealed or revoked.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Constitution, no court or tribunal shall have the jurisdiction to accept, hear or make any decision or order with respect to any challenge against the provisions of this Chapter and any immunity granted or continued in this Chapter.

(3) No compensation shall be payable by the State to any person in respect of damage, injury or loss to his property or person caused by or consequent upon any conduct from which immunity has been granted under this section.

CHAPTER 11—AMENDMENT OF CONSTITUTIONAmendment of Constitution*

156. This Constitution, or any provisions of this Constitution, may be amended in accordance with the procedure prescribed in this Chapter, and may not be amended in any other way.

Procedure for amendment

157.—(1) A Bill for the amendment of this Constitution must be expressed as a Bill for an Act to amend this Constitution.

(2) A Bill for the amendment of this Constitution must be passed by Parliament in accordance with the following procedure—

- (a) the Bill is read 3 times in Parliament;
- (b) at the second and third readings, it is supported by the votes of at least three-quarters of the members of Parliament;
- (c) an interval of at least 30 days elapses between the second and third readings and each of those readings is preceded by full opportunity for debate; and
- (d) the third reading of the Bill in Parliament does not take place until after the relevant standing committee has reported on the Bill to Parliament.

(3) If a Bill for the amendment of this Constitution is passed by Parliament in accordance with subsection (2), then the Speaker shall notify the President accordingly, who shall then refer the Bill to the Electoral Commission, for the Electoral Commission to conduct a referendum for all registered voters in Fiji to vote on the Bill.

(4) The referendum for the purposes of subsection (3) shall be conducted by the Electoral Commission in such manner as prescribed by written law.

(5) The Electoral Commission shall, immediately after the referendum, notify the President of the outcome and shall publish the outcome of the referendum in the media.

(6) If the outcome of the referendum is that three-quarters of the registered voters who have participated in the referendum have voted in favour of the Bill, then the President must assent to the Bill, which shall come into force on the date of the Presidential assent or on such other date as prescribed in the Bill.

(7) In this section, the use of the word “amend” or “amendment” is intended to be understood broadly, so that the section applies to any proposal to repeal, replace, revise, or alter any provision or provisions of this Constitution.

CHAPTER 12—COMMENCEMENT, INTERPRETATION, REPEALS AND TRANSITIONAL

Part A—SHORT TITLE AND COMMENCEMENT

Short title and commencement

158.—(1) This Constitution may be cited as the Constitution of Fiji.

(2) This Constitution shall come into force on a date or dates determined by the President by notice published in the Gazette.

Interpretation

159.—(1) In this Constitution, unless the contrary intention appears—

"Act" means an Act of Parliament, Decree or a Promulgation;

Part C—REPEALS

Repeals

160. Subject to Part D of this Chapter, the following written laws are repealed—

- (a) Executive Authority of Fiji Decree 2009;
- (b) Revenue and Expenditure Decree 2009;
- (c) State Services Decree 2009;
- (d) Office of the Vice-President and Succession Decree 2009; and
- (e) Administration of Justice Decree 2009.

Part D—TRANSITIONAL

Office of the President

161.—(1) Notwithstanding the repeal of the Executive Authority of Fiji Decree 2009, the President appointed under the Executive Authority of Fiji Decree 2009 shall continue to hold office for the term of his or her appointment made under the Executive Authority of Fiji Decree 2009, and any re-appointment to the office of the President must be done in accordance with the provisions of this Constitution.

(2) The President appointed under the Executive Authority of Fiji Decree 2009 shall continue to exercise the executive authority of Fiji and exercise all the powers (including making laws by decree on the advice of Cabinet) vested in him or her under the Executive Authority of Fiji Decree 2009, until the date of the first sitting of the first Parliament under this Constitution.

(3) If any vacancy arises in the office of the President before the first sitting of the first Parliament under this Constitution, then another person shall be appointed to the office of the President in accordance with the Executive Authority of Fiji Decree 2009.

(4) Notwithstanding the repeal of the Office of the Vice-President and Succession Decree 2009, until the date of the first sitting of the first Parliament under this Constitution, if the office of the President is vacant or if the President is absent from duty or from Fiji or is, for any reason, unable to perform the functions of the office of the President, then the functions of the office of the President shall be performed by the Chief Justice or, in the absence of the Chief Justice, the next senior most substantive Judge, determined by having regard to the date of appointment and the nature of the judicial office held.

Prime Minister and Cabinet Ministers

162.—(1) Notwithstanding the repeal of the Executive Authority of Fiji Decree 2009, the Prime Minister and other Ministers appointed under the Executive Authority of Fiji Decree 2009 shall continue in office until the date of the first sitting of the first Parliament under this Constitution.

(2) The Prime Minister and other Ministers shall continue to exercise all the authority and powers vested in the Prime Minister and other Ministers under the Executive Authority of Fiji Decree 2009 until the date of the first sitting of the first Parliament under this Constitution.

(3) Notwithstanding its repeal, the Executive Authority of Fiji Decree 2009 shall continue to be in force until the date of the first sitting of the first Parliament under this Constitution.

(4) Notwithstanding the repeal of the laws mentioned in Part C of this Chapter and notwithstanding anything contained in this Constitution, until the date of the first sitting of the first Parliament under this Constitution, subordinate laws shall be made in accordance with the laws, rules and procedures applicable prior to the commencement of this Constitution.

Public officers

163.—(1) Any person who immediately before the date of commencement of this Constitution holds or is acting in a public office shall, from the date of the commencement of this Constitution hold or act in that office or the corresponding public office established by this Constitution as if he or she had been appointed to do so in accordance with the provisions of this Constitution and shall be deemed to have taken any oaths required upon such appointment by any existing law; provided however that any person who under any existing law would have been required to vacate his or her office at the expiration of any period or on the attainment of any age shall vacate his or her office under this Constitution upon the expiration of that period or upon the attainment of that age.

(2) The provision of this section shall be without prejudice to any powers conferred by or under this Constitution to make provision for the abolition of offices or for the removal from office of persons holding or acting in any office.

Finance

164. Notwithstanding the repeal of the Revenue and Expenditure Decree 2009 and the provisions of Chapter 7 of this Constitution, the Revenue and Expenditure Decree 2009 shall continue to be in force until the date of the first sitting of the first Parliament under this Constitution.

Functions of Parliament and Speaker

165.—(1) Notwithstanding the repeal of the laws mentioned in Part C of this Chapter, any function that has to be performed by the Speaker in this Constitution shall, until the date of the first sitting of the first Parliament under this Constitution, be performed by the Prime Minister.

(2) Notwithstanding the repeal of the laws mentioned in Part C of this Chapter, any function that has to be performed by Parliament in this Constitution shall, until the date of the first sitting of the first Parliament under this Constitution, be performed by Cabinet.

(3) Any function that has to be performed by the Leader of the Opposition in this Constitution shall, until the appointment of the Leader of the Opposition under this Constitution, be performed by the Prime Minister.

Elections

166.—(1) Notwithstanding anything contained in Chapter 4 of this Constitution, the first election for members of Parliament under this Constitution shall be held on a date to be determined by the President, on the advice of the Prime Minister, provided however that the first election must be held no later than 30 September 2014.

(2) Until such time when the Electoral Commission or a Supervisor of Elections are appointed under this Constitution, the functions of the Electoral Commission or the Supervisor of Elections shall be performed by the Permanent Secretary responsible for Elections.

Succession of institutions

167.—(1) An office or institution established under this Constitution shall be the legal successor of the corresponding office or institution existing immediately before the commencement of this Constitution.

(2) Upon its appointment under this Constitution, the Supervisor of Elections shall be the legal successor to the office of the Registrar of Voters under the Electoral (Registration of Voters) Decree 2012 and to the office of the Registrar under the Political Parties (Registration, Conduct, Funding and Disclosures) Decree 2013.

Preservation of rights and obligations

168.—(1) Except to the extent that this Constitution expressly provides otherwise, all rights and obligations, however arising, of the State and subsisting immediately before the commencement of this Constitution shall continue as rights and obligations of the State under this Constitution.

(2) Any permits, licences, rights or similar undertakings of the State issued to any person, and in force immediately before the commencement of this Constitution shall continue in the same terms from that date.

(3) All delegations that had been given before the commencement of this Constitution by a person referred to any law repealed under Part C of this Chapter and which were in force immediately before the commencement of this Constitution, shall continue in force after the commencement of this Constitution, as if given by a corresponding commission or person referred to in this Constitution.

(4) All proceedings before a commission or a person referred to in any law repealed under Part C of this Chapter that had commenced but had not been determined on the date of the commencement of this Constitution shall continue after the commencement of this Constitution as if they had been commenced before the corresponding commission or person referred to in this Constitution.

Preservation of laws

169.—(1) Subject to subsection (2), all written laws in force immediately before the date of commencement of this Constitution (other than the laws referred to in Part C of this Chapter) shall continue in force as if they had been made under or pursuant to this Constitution, and shall be construed with such modifications, adaptations, qualifications and exceptions as may be necessary to bring them into conformity with this Constitution.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Constitution, any promulgation, decree or declaration (other than the laws referred to in Part C of this Chapter) made or as may be made and which are in force between 5 December 2006 until the date of the first sitting of the first Parliament under this Constitution shall continue to be in force in their entirety.

(3) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Constitution, any promulgation, decree or declaration (other than the laws referred to in Part C of this Chapter) made or as may be made and which are in force between 5 December 2006 until the date of the first sitting of the first Parliament under this Constitution may be amended by Parliament after the commencement of this Constitution; provided however that no such amendment shall have any retrospective effect, and shall not in any way nullify any decision made under these laws.

(4) No challenge can be made in any court or tribunal against the validity or legality of any such promulgation, decree or declaration made or as may be made and which are in force between 5 December 2006 until the date of the first sitting of the first Parliament under this Constitution, and notwithstanding the repeal of the Administration of Justice Decree 2009, section 5(3), (4), (5), (6) and (7) shall continue to apply.

(5) All written laws that had been made but had not come into force on the date of the commencement of this Constitution may be brought into force in accordance with their terms and shall apply as if enacted or made under or pursuant to this Constitution.

Judicial proceedings

170.—(1) The courts established by the Administration of Justice Decree 2009 shall continue in existence.

(2) All proceedings in the courts established under the Administration of Justice Decree 2009 that had commenced but had not been determined on the date of the commencement of this Constitution shall continue as if the provisions of this Constitution were in force at their commencement.

(3) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Constitution, sections 23, 23A, 23B, 23C, and 23D of the Administration of Justice Decree 2009 shall continue in force, and the courts established by, or continued in existence under, this Constitution shall not have jurisdiction to—

- (a) accept, hear or determine any matters for which the jurisdiction of the courts was excluded under the Administration of Justice Decree 2009 or any other written law; and
- (b) accept, hear or determine any proceedings which had been terminated under the Administration of Justice Decree 2009 or any other written law.
